U.S. Seen Set to Quit Big 4 Talks

By KINGSBURY SMITH
European General Manager, International News Service

LONDON, Nov. 24 (INS)—An American spokesman said today the conference of Big Four foreign ministers would be shortlived if Russia attempts to turn the parley into a sounding board for intensification of its political warfare against the United States.

The spokesman is a leading member of the American delegation to the conference opening tomorrow. He predicted Sec. Marshall might walk out and return home within two weeks if it becomes apparent that there is no hope of obtaining a sound basis for agreement with Russia on the Austrian and German problems.

Marshall is said to be determined not to permit this conference to develop into a verbal diplomatic cockpit for the benefit of Soviet propaganda.

The American statesman intends to reiterate early in the conference America's position in respect to the nature of the issues involved in the German and Austrian peace settlements.

If it appears there is a chance of getting a satisfactory agreement, Marshall will, according to delegation sources, be prepared to stay six or eight weeks.

MARSHALL READY TO GO
If, on the other hand, Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov starts off by blasting the United States and accuses the American government of attempting to use Germany as a base for imperialism in Europe, Marshall soon will pack his bags and go home.

Meanwhile, Molotov took the initiative in seeking the first news conference and private meetings with both Marshall and British Foreign Secretary Bevin. He was to see Bevin late this afternoon and will visit Marshall tonight.

Bevin's first move as mediator will be to try to seek a compromise on the agenda.

'Girl Friend' to File Slander Suit Against Gen. Meyers

General

MAJ. GEN. BENNETT MEYERS

DAYTON, O., Nov. 24 (INS)—The Dayton Herald stated today in a copyrighted story that Mrs. Mildred Lamarre would file a slander suit against Maj.-Gen. Bennett E. Meyers because of the general's statement he had a wartime love affair with her.

Mrs. Lamarre, in an interview with Herald Newsman Jack Vincent, said she had instructed her attorney, Robert Knee, to file the suit. She did not disclose how much would be asked, but from other sources it was learned the sum might be as much as a half-million dollars.

In the Herald story, Mrs. Lamarre was quoted as saying that all of Meyers' statements reflecting on her honor "comprised barefaced lies."

Mrs. Lamarre is the wife of Bleriot H. Lamarre, wartime "dummy" president of the Aviation Electric Co. of Vandalia, Dayton suburb.

MEYERS' 'GIRL FRIEND'
Lamarre has testified in Washington that Meyers actually was the owner of the firm, and had "milked" $131,000 from it during the war by salary kickbacks and other means.

Meyers denied this and testified that he set up the company only to help the Lamarres because of his "love affair" with Mrs. Lamarre, who was his secretary and alleged "girl friend" at Wright Field.

Meyers testified further that Lamarre knew of the romance, but Lamarre countered it was a falsehood and that Meyers should be made to crawl "like the snake that he is."

Mrs. Lamarre, according to the Herald, stated:

"Meyers—I can't call him 'General' any more—can say lies but they cease to mean anything."

"First you get mad, and then you cry. There are no words strong enough to tell what I feel. Suit for slander seems the only answer."

With the tall former Miami (O.) University campus beauty was her 35-year-old husband, who commented:

"I've said it all back in Washington."

He declared that he had called Meyers "liar" and "snake."

The Herald quoted Meyers' former secretary as continuing:

"There has never been any impropriety in relations between Meyers and myself."

"His statements suggesting it are lies. I have gone no further than any other wife goes in an effort to see her husband get ahead with his boss."

Both of us went out of our way to be nice to Meyers, but that is all."

Mrs. Lamarre, according to the Herald, added the former air forces procurement officer could not possibly have known her from 1936 to 1941. She stated:

"I didn't go to work for him until April, 1940. I didn't meet him before that. I worked for him one year and two months."

The Herald reached Mrs. Lamarre at her small but attractive five-room house, where she has been seclusion since Thursday. The paper quoted her:

"At first I was so mad I almost died. I guess I did a little of everything. Certainly I cried, as you might expect. I could have gone screaming out of here that night when I heard he said that, but words seem so futile.

"Not a word of it is true, but a flat denial isn't emphatic enough."

The Herald stated that Mrs. Meyers told it she would be glad to "stop playing hide and seek" and continued:

"We considered Meyers a family friend and trusted him. But we can't say we were fooled any more than Gen. Arnold and a lot of other people who once had respect for him."

Asked what originally had impressed her about Meyers, Mrs. Lamarre replied:

"You naturally would have respect for a man in his type of job (of assistant wartime procurement chief) and you'd think he was doing it well, according to medals and citations."

Mrs. Lamarre conceded she and

VFW Official Raps Foreign Aid As GIs Lack Funds Quit, College

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—The Veterans of Foreign Wars accused the Administration and House leaders in Congress of sidetracking veterans' rights under the GI Bill so that billions in foreign relief can be highballed to Europe.

VFW's criticism came on the heels of a Veterans Administration report that 2,013,000 veterans have abandoned school or training courses begun under provisions of the bill.

Omar B. Ketchum, national VFW legislative director, pointed out bills to increase subsistence allowances and income ceilings of veterans in college or training passed the Senate last spring but are now bottled up by the House leadership.

Equal blame for the stalemate was placed on the Administration for its failure to ask any relief for veterans in either the special session call or message to Congress.

"Rehabilitation of foreign countries and peoples has clearly been given the right of way over rehabilitation of our own war veterans," Ketchum commented.

"Promises made when the GI Bill of Rights was passed that the nation would provide subsistence for veterans in training or attending college are being ignored or forgotten. Veterans today can't live on what was minimum subsistence four years ago."

"Ironically, all the emphasis now is on subsistence for Europeans."

N. H. Officials Wait Teacher Death Report

EFFINGHAM, N. H., Nov. 24—Investigation into the death of a middle-aged school teacher whose nude and strangled body was found in woods here was resumed today after a veteran official disputed a tentative ruling of probable suicide.

Carroll County Atty. Preston Smart declared the nine-day investigation into the death of Miss Marie Lysle, 51, of Pittsfield, N. H., school teacher, "has never been closed by this office and won't be until we are satisfied as to the cause of death."

Medical Referee Francis J. C. Dube of Center Ossipee has tentatively declared the case a suicide, but is due to receive today a report on internal organs from Dr. Alan R. Moritt, Massachusetts State Police pathologist, to aid him in making a final ruling of homicide or murder.

HOMICIDE SEEN SURE

The homicide theory was advanced by State Sen. James Welch, for 21 years high sheriff of Carroll County and now a deputy sheriff, who said it was his positive belief she was slain.

The nude body of Miss Lysle, who left Ipswich, Mass., several years ago to teach school in New Hampshire, was found Nov. 15 in woods near here. She had been missing since Sept. 6, when she was last seen hitch-hiking on the road from Ossipee to Center Ossipee, about three miles from the wooded and bramble-grown area where her lifeless form was discovered by a hunter.

A length of heavy cloth, described as webbing, was knotted tightly about her throat, but though she was naked, none of her clothing or possessions, including her handbag, could be found in a wide search of the area.

"THEORY PREPOSTEROUS"

Sen. Welch, who serves as a deputy sheriff because age limitation forbade his running again for the high office, was present when the first officials called to view the teacher's body.

"I have been active in the investigation ever since," Deputy Welch declared yesterday. "I'm satisfied that it's a clear case of murder and nothing else. A suicide theory is preposterous."

"This woman's body was found 100 yards in the woods from a lovers' lane parking spot. The area is heavily grown with bushes, such as running blackberries, scrub and blueberries. It would be impossible for a naked woman to walk through this stuff to where her body was found."

"An area 1000 feet from the body has been searched for clothing or evidence that the clothing was burned. Nothing has turned up."

"I think she was taken out of a car in the lovers' lane spot and dragged by the hands to where her body was discovered."

"People up here are certain it was murder. They don't subscribe, and neither do I, to the theory of suicide. Whoever did it should be brought to justice before he commits another such crime."

The sheriff said his office is still hunting for the school teacher's clothing and other effects, and he pointed out that as yet there has been no official decision as to the cause of death.

Oil Men Urge Use Of Idle U. S. Tankers

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Idle government-owned tankers should be reconitioned and put into service to meet threatened winter petroleum products shortages, two committees of the National Petroleum Council reported.

A shortage of tankers in use is reflected in reduced stocks on the Atlantic seaboard, estimated to be 10,000,000 barrels lower than they were at this time last year, according to the committee on petroleum supplies and availability.

Clare Luce Chides Marshall on Reds

SALT LAKE CITY, Nov. 24—Mrs. Clare Boothe Luce chided Sec. Marshall for being what she termed vague in his Tuesday night Chicago address.

The former Connecticut congresswoman, in an address here, said Marshall did not give the "basic issues" between Communism and democracy.

"I think he knows what the basic issue is and I can't understand why he doesn't tell us. The basic issue is human freedom," she added.

BANKS NATIONALIZED

LONDON, Nov. 24 (INS)—The Moscow radio said the Hungarian Parliament unanimously adopted a bill nationalizing large banks.

The new prisoners, a man and a woman, were added to the 15 men and 28 women taken into custody Saturday night at Irontown and who were to appear today before a U. S. commissioner. They were arrested at the Irontown station last night.

The woman was held as a material witness and FBI agents questioned the man. Interrogation of other prisoners also continued.

The FBI swept into Irontown, a bustling little city of 20,000 located just across the Ohio river from several West Virginia and Kentucky cities, about midnight Saturday.

Almost simultaneously, agents made individual arrests in Illinois, Missouri and California, together with a man and a woman at Columbus, O.

HELD AS WITNESS

But the sudden smash was directed primarily at a two-block "call house district" in Irontown known as "The Line" for 60-odd years.

Most of those seized were detained as material witnesses. Eleven were charged with violation of the White Slavery Act.

The court appearance of those held here as material witnesses was expected to be little more than a formality of assuring the commissioner, by posting bond or otherwise, they will be available to testify later when charges are pressed against the others.

Those under charges here are Arthur Hall, James William Mills, Ollie Nichols, Elby Paul Brown, Jean Elizabeth Foster, Marjorie Gibson and Emma Nichols, all arrested at Irontown.

William H. Veazey and Irene Wilson, arrested at Columbus, Nicholas Dinara, arrested at Benld, Ill., and Joyce Dinora, arrested at St. Louis, also were charged with violating the act forbidding the taking of a woman across a state line for immoral purposes.

NAB FRISCO GIRL

At San Francisco, Special Agent Harry M. Kimball said Patricia Morgan, 19, was being held on telegraphic instructions from Cincinnati. Washington FBI officials explained she was being detained only as a material witness.

Last night "The Line" was deserted. The houses were locked and street lights provided the only illuminations. Blaring juke boxes were stilled.

J. Edgar Hoover, director of the FBI, said at Washington that the arrests were aimed at interstate transportation of girl recruits for several houses of prostitution within a two-block area in Irontown.

Solons Study Foreign Aid, Living Cost

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—Senators stacked their own estimates of the American food supply against those of the administration today as Congress turned formally to what may be months of congressional debate over President Truman's foreign aid and domestic cost of living programs.

The Senate prepared to take up a measure authorizing up to $597,000,000 worth of food, fuel and fertilizer for France, Italy and Austria this winter. Leaders have forecast its passage by Wednesday night.

BASE SUPPLY

But without waiting for the arguments to begin, Chairman Bridges (R.) of New Hampshire announced his appropriations committee had obtained a staff report on wheat and other food prospects. The idea is to compare it with the inventory Agriculture Secretary Anderson was asked to lay down before the committee decides how much money actually will go into the relief pot.

Bridges already has said this figure will be determined largely by the available food, fuel and fertilizer, a circumstance noted by the foreign relations committee in approving the general authorization measure.

The N. H. senator withheld the committee's report pending Anderson's submission of the department estimates.

The committee's action promised the first showdown in a day of congressional firing scheduled to include:

DEBATE CREDITS

An appeal by Sen. Vandenberg (R.) of Michigan for speedy approval of the $597,000,000 measure, designed not only to alleviate distress, but to halt the spread of Communism in Europe.

Strikes Solution 1st Task of New French Cabinet

PARIS, Nov. 24 (AP)—Premier Robert Schuman announced today the formation of a new coalition cabinet and immediately plunged into the long wave of strikes that threatened the nation with economic disaster.

Already tied up by walkouts were nine of every 10 railroads in France. All the country's harbors and most of her coal mines were idle, and all grade schools in the capital were closed.

The situation was further complicated by the threat of disturbances arising from a one-franc increase in subway fares in Paris, which went into effect today.

To meet the threat, several thousand mobile guardsmen were rushed into the city last night, and reservists of the 1947 class, who recently were recalled to duty, were assembled in readiness at Fontainebleau, 40 miles south of the capital.

Subway stations were as crowded as ever during the morning rush hour, though there was some grumbling as passengers paid the 5 franc (about 4 cents) fare. Bus fares also went up simultaneously, but there appeared to be no drop in traffic.

Police quickly halted an attempted demonstration at the George V subway station on the Champs Elysees. Police said a group began shouting in protest against increased fares. Several were arrested and the remaining demonstrators were dispersed.

Schuman announced formation of his new government at 12:15 a.m. after 36 hours of negotiating with the leaders of all major political parties except the Communist and Gen. Charles De Gaulle's Rally of the French People (R.P.F.).

The cabinet—France's seventh since her liberation from German domination—is composed of six members of Schuman's Popular Republican Movement (MRP), five members of the Socialist party's radical right wing, three middle-of-the-road Radical Socialists and one Moderate Independent Republican.

Retained as foreign minister in the new government was Georges Bidault, a member of the MRP, who is scheduled to depart for London tonight to participate in the Big Four foreign ministers' conference, which opens tomorrow.

Find $800,000 In Dope on Plane Victim

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (INS)—The widow of Ralph Macri, who—Los Angeles police said—was transporting dope with worth $800,000 when he died aboard a transcontinental plane, claimed today she never suspected her husband was engaged in illegal activities.

In an interview with the New York Journal-American, Mrs. Bridget Macri said her husband had been unable to work for the last three years because of a "nervous stomach" and that she had to get a job as a garment worker to support them.

Mrs. Macri further asserted she had borrowed money for him before the trip.

Macri's widow told the Journal-American:

"I make $50 to $60 a week as an operator on babies' hats. 'It was not enough money to support us, however, and I frequently borrowed money from loan companies."

"Saturday, Ralph said he wanted to go to California. He thought the trip might improve his health."

"He wanted the thrill of an airplane, so I borrowed $210 on our furniture for him."

At La Guardia airport, where Macri boarded a United Airlines plane Saturday afternoon, officials said he walked to the loading gate with another man. They said his companion seemed to be giving him instructions about the trip.

Though his death was tentatively attributed to a heart attack, Mrs. Macri said she never knew him to have a heart ailment.

Suspect in $400 Lynn Holdup Seized

Lynn police early today seized a youthful suspect in the $400 theater robbery in that city, the most brutal crime in a series of week-end forays that netted criminals more than $2000.

Another $200,000 was missed by yeggs in Pawtucket, who opened one store safe and took $800 but were unable to crack two other safes holding the larger amounts. Patrolman Joseph Moran arrested a 22-year-old Salem man allegedly lurking in a doorway in Market st., near Central sq. Moran said that in searching him he discovered a .22-caliber sawed-off rifle. He will be questioned regarding possible complicity with another youth in the well-planned movie holdup.

The thugs struck at the Warner Theater in Union st. just after Mrs. Rita Gagnon, 25, had closed her ticket booth and carried the day's receipts into the office of Harold Cummings, manager.

FLEE IN TAXI

The pair beat the manager and cashier senseless, picked up the money bag, walked out through the lobby and escaped in a taxi.

In Pawtucket, yeggs drove up to the United Public Market in Exchange st. and encountered the janitor, Fred Donnelly, 55, of Rand st., Central Falls, at work in the parking lot. They forced him inside the store at gunpoint.

Another store worker, John O'Donnell, 56, Clairmont st., Pawtucket, was forced into an office with Donnelly. The two were tied to chairs while the robbers looted the safe.

Martin Doctoroff, 14, of Rodnor rd., Brighton, was attacked by three youngsters near his home and dragged into a cellarway. One held a knife at the boy's throat as the other two went through his pockets and took $3.

FELLS BANDIT

An attempted holdup failed when Peter Champanis resisted two men as he walked from his ground floor cafe in Washington st., South End, through a hallway to his apartment upstairs. Champanis floored one of the men with a punch and the other fled.

Safe crackers who entered the Schwartz toy shop in Newbury st., Back Bay, were working on a safe in the back room when an approaching night watchman caused them to flee.

A thief entered the apartment of Dorothy Murray in Garrison st., Back Bay, and took two rings valued at $335. Another entered the bedroom of Carrie Harris in Allston st., West End, during her absence and took a handbag containing $275.

In all, in the Greater Boston area, there were five holdups, five burglaries and two handbag snatchings over the weekend.

Suicide of Bride Blamed on Illness

FALL RIVER, Nov. 24—Mrs. Marion O'Dell Cavaretta, 47, of Greenland rd., Portsmouth, N. H., who married for the second time only eight days ago, committed suicide while temporarily deranged Medical Examiner Thomas E. Boylen reported today.

She had been suffering a nervous disorder for two months and was under care of a physician in her home city, he disclosed.

Her body, found in the Taunton river off the Brownell st. shore, had been in the water 20 hours.

On Nov. 15, she was married in Portsmouth to John Cavaretta, 47, and left there last Thursday for a visit with relatives here and in New Bedford.

When she left the home of her New Bedford relatives Friday morning to purchase a newspaper and failed to return, a search was begun in the belief she was a victim of amnesia.

State, Hub Police Spread Death-Threat Bandit Net

State detectives today joined Boston and Brookline police in spreading a net throughout the exclusive Fisher Hill section, in which they hope to trap the glib-tongued dapper bandit who since August has entered and robbed the homes of at least 27 victims in the district, in each case threatening to return and kill them if they report to police.

Residents in the area, which includes the Chestnut Hill ave. section, were reported in a state bordering on panic over the nocturnal visits of the bandit who robs only for cash and refuses jewelry, and who has netted thousands of dollars, not only in the Boston area, but in Brookline and other outlying communities.

Because of the reign of terror he has created, police are withholding the names of victims at the latter's own requests. In one instance, it was learned, where the head of a victimized family notified police, the bandit reappeared several nights later to give the family a final warning that his threat to kill was no idle one.

DETECTIVES AT SCENE

Detectives posing as residents, butlers, gardeners and chauffeurs dressed to the particular callings, have been stationed in the swank homes and outbuildings of estates. Their purpose is not only to trap the bandit, but afford protection to the frightened residents.

Early today a visitor in the Hyslop rd. section inquired of a man he saw walking a dog where a certain family lived. The innocent-looking dog-walker suddenly flashed a police badge and told the inquirer to "Keep on going."

Officials have clamped down on all possible sources of information and have warned detectives assigned to the case of severe disciplinary action if they divulge any information.

The official seal of secrecy, however, has not prevented certain information leaking out.

For instance, it was learned today that a prominent Boston broker has within the past week sold his estate and moved to Wellesley, because his fear-stricken family refused to remain after receiving a second and final visit from the bandit, who repeated his threat to kill.

BOASTS GUN SKILL

In another home the suave bandit produced a .38 calibre revolver and "broke" it before the eyes of his terrorized victims, to prove that it was loaded and that he meant business. He also demonstrated his quickness on the draw.

His method of entering homes was said to be the same in all reported robberies.

Forcing a rear or side window, or preferably the front door, French windows, he quietly enters a victim's bedroom, taps him or her on the shoulder and demands money.

From one prominent business man alone he obtained $5700, it was learned. Almost all of the descriptions of him given by his victims tally. He is said to be 5 feet 9 or 10 inches tall, about 27 years old, and on his two last reported jobs he wore an expensive camel's hair topcoat.

500 War on Rats To Conserve Grain

WAYNESBORO, Pa., Nov. 24 (AP)—It was "D-Day for Rodents" in this area today as hundreds of persons armed with pellets of poisoned horse meat prepared to wage an all-out battle against rats as a grain conservation measure.

A concrete mixer was set up to grind out the pellets of horse meat, liberally mixed with rat poison, for distribution to the more than 500 "soldiers" participating in the war against the grain-fleching pests.

The ultimate saving from the campaign in wheat alone, it is estimated, will amount to 2,000,000 one-pound loaves of bread next year.

'Boy's Body' in Roxbury Proves Only Dummy

An aghast citizen rushed into Engine 37 headquarters, Roxbury, today, to report he had seen the body of a boy resting at the bottom of Leverett's Pond, Huntington ave., near the Roxbury overpass.

An inhaler squad, with police, including officers from Brookline, sped to the pond and saw the outline of a figure on the bottom.

It turned out to be a dummy in boy's clothing. Police Capt. Francis Russell ordered it destroyed lest pranksters use it again.

Warns Women Of Cancer Peril Delay

By FRANK CAREY

Associated Press Science Reporter
BALTIMORE, Nov. 24 (AP)—Women should get to a doctor within 24 hours, if possible, after noticing a lump or something unusual in the breast, a Baltimore doctor said today.

Only one in three of such cases will have a cancer anyway, says Dr. L. Clarence Cohn at St. Agnes' Hospital, but among those who do, this early action can greatly improve the outlook in the control of this malady.

Cohn said in a report prepared for the opening session of the Southern Medical Ass'n's 41st annual meeting that cancer occupies second place as a cause of death and that approximately 10 per cent of all cancer deaths are from malignancies of the female breast.

And he said that if such cancers are detected before they spread from the breast itself to the armpit, the chances of a "five-year cure" are upped from a gross rate of 13½ per cent to 81 per cent. And opportunity for a "ten-year cure" increases from 11.3 per cent to 51 per cent.

(A five or ten-year "cure" means that either five or ten years pass without a recurrence of a cancer that has been attacked by surgery or "irradiation"—that is, X-ray or radium treatment.)

2877th Quake Since 1935 Hits Montana

HELENA, Mont., Nov. 24 (AP)

A 68-second earthquake, the strongest recorded in four years, rumbled across Montana yesterday, cracking plaster in two cities, and startling residents of a dozen more.

The shock tripped the alarm on the seismograph at Carroll College in Helena for the capital city's 2877th quake since 1935.

The quake brought down a main street cafe ceiling in Hamilton, damaged several Butte homes, and shook buildings in Helena, Harlowton, Malta, Havre, Glasgow, Kalispell and Bozeman.

Lynn Raid Blonde Facing Deportation

Beautiful, blonde Joan Allison Biggs, 18, Verdun, P. Q., arrested Saturday on morals charges in a raid on her Newhall st., Lynn, apartment, was taken in custody by immigration officials today on a charge of entering the country illegally.

The girl, freed for the weekend on $2500 bail furnished by a friend of Frank Ziccardi, 34, Pine st., Swampscott, who was arrested with her, appeared before Judge Ralph W. Reeve today in a closed session in the judge's chamber.

Afterward, it was announced Judge Reeve had continued hearing on an idle and disorderly charge for a week at the same $2500 bail, and that she had been turned over to Immigration Insp. John A. Carney.

Carney had informed the judge the girl would be taken to Charles st. jail and would be given a deportation hearing within three days.

The girl arrived in Lynn on a vacation trip last Aug. 27 and had remained here since.

Ziccardi, who had paid a $25 fine on a morals charge Saturday, said outside the courtroom today he and the girl had been planning to marry. He said she had expected to return to Quebec for the Christmas holidays and that after that they had planned to wed.

In Brockton, Linda Boss, 6, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Boss of Market st., died at Goddard Hospital following a three-car collision on Route 28 in Bridgewater.

Injured in the crash were Mrs. Patricia Hartig, 22, of South Main st., Middleboro, and Mrs. Frances Levenson, 46, of Belmont ave., Brockton. Both are at St. Luke's Hospital, Middleboro, where both are reported in fair condition.

2 Lynn Killers Given Life Sentences

LAWRENCE, Nov. 24—Life sentences were imposed in superior court today on Roy S. Shurger, 16, and Herbert A. Douglas, 27, both of Lynn, for the murder of Harry Rosen, 63-year-old shoe manufacturer, during a holdup at his East Lynn plant.

Both had been indicted for murder in the first degree, but Judge Abraham Finanski consented to accept a plea of guilty to second degree murder after Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg of Essex County agreed justice would be served.

Judge Finanski said he was taking into consideration the fact that Shurger was a juvenile in the eyes of the law when the murder occurred, last June.

Shurger and Douglas were arrested after being traced to Ithaca, N. Y., through a telegraphic request for money received in Lynn.

Aid Others, Pope Urges Americans

VATICAN CITY, Nov. 24 (INS)—Pope Pius labeled the United States "the vanguard of the army of Christian charity" in a broadcast appeal to American Catholics to the starving, disease-threatened people of other countries.

He urged them to observe Thanksgiving by giving freely, and adding:

"We would tell you how consoled and grateful we are for the bountiful, never-failing assistance you have given us in our crusade for worldwide charity. Your sacrifices make that charity possible."

Winchester Gives 711 Sheets To Heroic Belgian Villagers

Winchester residents today had done their part to repay the people of the little Belgian town of Hemroulle for the aid they gave American paratroopers during the Battle of the Bulge.

In a spontaneous Sunday drive, 540 Winchester townfolk donated 711 bed sheets which will be sent to Hemroulle, to replace those the Belgian residents stripped from their own beds on Christmas Day, 1944, so that paratroopers battling the Nazis on snow-covered ground might have effective camouflage.

So important did Sec. of State

George C. Marshall regard this simple Winchester gesture, that he requested that a complete transcription of the sheet-giving ceremonies, together with pictures, be sent to him to be used as American propaganda in Europe.

If all happened this way. Last week, John Hanlon, of Bridge st., Winchester, former lieutenant-colonel in the paratroopers, told for the first time, how the villagers of Hemroulle pulled the sheets from their beds when he asked the mayor for enough white cloth to help camouflage his men.

He said he intended to return them, but his outfit never got back to Hemroulle. Mrs. Kenneth B. Toye, one of the Winchester residents who heard Hanlon's story, thought it would be a nice idea if the people of Winchester returned the sheets with their thanks for the help given to a local boy.

Just as on that Christmas Day in Hemroulle, Winchester church bells were rung, and 540 friends and neighbors of Hanlon brought their gift sheets to the high school.

There, with simple exercises, the sheets were formally presented to Dr. Albert Navez, Belgian consul in Boston.

Snow in Midwest Season's Heaviest

By the Associated Press
The heaviest snowstorm of the season was blowing out of the Great Lakes and northern midwestern states today, a forerunner of another cold wave for the area.

The snowfall at Chicago was expected to measure four inches. The weather bureau said that most of the snow turned to slush as it fell on warm ground in eastern Iowa, northern Illinois and northern Indiana.

A cold wave "considerably below normal" was moving eastward from the high plains area and was expected to spread over most of the middle west by morning. Temperatures at Chicago were expected to reach a low of around 15 tomorrow.

The midwestern cold extended from North Dakota, where Fargo reported an icy -9 today, into the southwest.

Rain was reported in the Ohio and Tennessee valleys but elsewhere the situation generally had clear or partly cloudy weather with temperatures near seasonal normals.

Taft Rift Denied By Sen. White

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP) —Sen. Wallace H. White recently submitted his resignation as Republican majority leader in the Senate but the Republican conference refused to accept it.

White vigorously denied reports that friction between Sen. Taft (R.) of Ohio, and himself prompted submission of the resignation.

"I tendered my resignation," White told a reporter, "because I had become persuaded that the duties of floor leadership, along with those involved as chairman of the Interstate and foreign commerce committee, as well as membership on the foreign relations committee, involved greater obligations than a Senator could fully meet. I was disposed to give up the floor leadership."

10 Tells Own Story of Search For 'Yank' Slaves in China

By SEYMOUR TOPPING

SHANGHAI, Nov. 24 (INS)—Capt. Edward McAllister recounted today his story of 201 days spent in China's remote Sikang Province on a stranger-than-fiction mission that traced down to its myth-like sources rumors that lost American airmen had been enslaved in Lololand.

The slim, 34-year-old Virginian from Allegheny Junction, whose complete official story still is subject to U. S. Army security restrictions, told of the experienced he and a companion, Sgt. John C. Fox of Tacoma, Wash., encountered in their hazardous trek.

McAllister, in an official interview with Shanghai's North China Daily News, said time is measured in Lololand only by dawns and sunsets. He said:

"Our mission began March 11th when Fox and I left Hsi-chang for the interior. Our orders simply were to go and find."

"With a few rations and traveling light, we began the first stages of our journey, being carried on litters made of bamboo poles with a few cross slats."

GUIDED BY PRIEST

"We were guided by a Chinese Catholic priest and we initially represented ourselves as priests, although we were wearing ordinary clothes without insignia."

"We were carried, walked or rode pack animals—depending on the terrain. We had native carriers for our supplies."

Fox and I were to travel together 200 miles before completing our mission."

"It was three weeks before we contacted a group of Lolos in whom we were interested, although we saw Lolos along the way. The 'bamboo wireless' passed the word along of our coming."

"We made arrangements for a conference of Lolo Chiefs which did not take place until three weeks after our first contact with the Lolos."

"Everything moves slowly in Lololand."

"Fierce feuds are reducing the manpower of the Lolos. That is one reason why the Lolos take slaves, whom they use as workers but treat otherwise as themselves. The Lolos surround a small Chinese village, take slaves, put them to work."

"WHITES" ENSLAVED

"As we tracked down the rumors, each one of them turned out to be false."

"Finally we brought seven Lolo chiefs together in a conference. They designated a meeting place in a neutral area."

"Each chief came with his bodyguards, who were armed with everything from rifles to ancient muzzle-loaders."

"All were without shoes and their feet seemed like rubber. At night they would cut callouses from their feet. Our shoes raised the greatest curiosity."

why planes no longer flew over their mountainous country.

Truman Gives
Standby Price
Ration Plan

By WILLIAM THEIS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (INS)—The Truman administration gave Congress today its broad food allocation program and asked for standby price and rationing controls if allocations fail to curb inflation.

Eight categories of foodstuffs as well as farm machinery, fertilizer, rail facilities and tin were marked for allocation in President Truman's detailed proposal. An Agriculture Department official, recommending wartime-like powers as preferable, outlined to the Joint Economic Committee this breakdown of food essentials for allocation if only limited control is granted.

Grain and grain products; rice and rice products; dry beans and peas; fats and oils (including oil-bearing materials, fatty acids, soap and soap powder, but not petroleum); livestock, poultry and their products, and milk and milk products.

The program was laid down by Carl C. Forrington, assistant administrator of production and marketing. He told the committee:

"We must face realistically the facts of the current and prospective situation. These facts indicate that the allocation powers . . . may not get the job done. To insure the maximum savings of grain and at the same time combat inflation, authority for rationing and price ceilings should be provided."

His views were given to a committee overwhelmingly opposed to all-out price control and partially on record in favor of stand-by meat rationing and other emergency measures.

OMAHA ARCHBISHOP DIES

41 FIRE VICTIMS BURIED
CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand, Nov. 24 (AP)—The 41 victims of the fire which destroyed a department store occupying an entire block here were buried in a common grave.

Meyers

her husband had been particularly lynx to the general on the ground the Lammars saw a chance to "make good" with the general's backing. She added: "I was nice to Meyers because I was interested in my husband's welfare. I think my husband is very capable, and Meyers always professed to be a good friend to both of us."

Their social relations with Meyers, the Herald quoted Mrs. Lamarre as saying, were limited to small dinner parties at downtown hotels. They also entertained him at their home with dinner.

The Herald reported the Lammars agreed they didn't recall ever having been to large parties given by the general, although they said they were aware he generally spent more money on parties than other officers of similar rank.

Lamarre recalled one dinner party at a downtown hotel at which six persons were present. Mrs. Lamarre then stated:

"Most of the time there were just three of us—after he was married he brought his wife. When we were together it was always three or four of us."

"Gen. Meyers did most of the talking, usually about people he knew and his experiences."

Lamarre, the newspaper story continued, chimed in that "nothing anybody else could say made any difference."

Lamarre said he stuck with Aviation Electric even though he kicked back to the general nearly all of his $30,000 annual listed salary. He added:

"I had hoped that after the war business we could produce a geared bicycle, but in January, 1915, Meyers told me we would have to close up. In March I sold the physical assets and later that year the firm was dissolved."

"I had previously contracted him about the bicycle, and he said he would make financial arrangements in New York. But he told me later that marketing the bicycle was not feasible."

Mrs. Lamarre, the story continued, said she did not begin to distrust the General until "he wanted my husband to lie about the company—I knew then that he had double-crossed us, too."

Lamarre said Meyers had come to Dayton, called the Lamarre residence, and talked to him at a downtown hotel in an effort to "frame" a story for the Washington investigation. Lamarre added:

"He told me the lie was to 'protect ourselves' and that I was equally guilty."

"He said the only way we could protect ourselves was to tell the same story, regardless of how ridiculous it sounded. They couldn't break it down, they couldn't do anything."

Stassen Urges Truman End Machinery Shipments to Reds

ST. PAUL, Nov. 24 (INS)—Former Minnesota Gov. Harold E. Stassen called upon President Truman to reverse his announced stand that there is no reason for stopping shipment of machines to Russia.

In a telegram to the President, Stassen, whose campaign for the Republican presidential nomination will be launched formally in Milwaukee tonight, declared there will be a greater chance of success in dealing with Russia "if we do not engage in economic appeasement."

The message called attention to numerous reasons for stopping such shipment, "each of which seems to me to be adequate," said Stassen.

CONTENTIONS STATED
 Refusal of the government of Russia to agree to thorough worldwide inspection and effective UN control over atomic energy; her refusal to join in a program for the reconstruction of Europe, obstruction of efforts toward rebuilding of these war torn economies, and the need of machinery and equipment now being shipped to Russia in Europe; and the contention that the Communists and the Russian government have not permitted a normal flow of machinery and equipment from the steel works of Czechoslovakia to Western Europe, are noted.

Stassen also advanced as a reason that the Communist parties of France and Italy, both of which are included in the nine-nation Cominform established by the government of Russia, are currently leading riots and strikes which indicate a determination of the Communists to turn to force when they lose in peaceful elections.

"No one can be confident of the future course of Russian foreign policy under these circumstances, and our government should not take any action which could contribute to the building of a Communist war machine," he contended.

"An unending effort must be made to reach sound open agreements with the government of Russia to correct this obstruction and change policies. If such constructive agreements are reached and carried out in good faith we should help the people of Russia."

Unionists Oppose Political Levy

Opposition was reported mounting today in Massachusetts labor circles over the proposal to levy a $1 assessment against every member of the State Federation of Labor to finance a political campaign against national and state legislators who supported the Taft-Hartley law and the Barnes bill in Massachusetts.

Dispute over the proposed levy broke out at a meeting of 150 labor leaders at the Parker House called by the executive council of the federation to formulate plans for a political and educational campaign.

The main criticism came from a group of leaders from the western part of the state, several of whom announced that members of their unions were opposed to the entrance of labor unions into politics and would not contribute a dime.

46 Writers Defend Anti-Red Probe

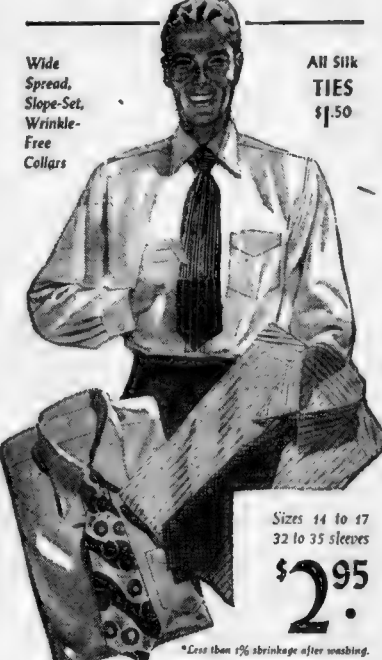

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (AP)—A statement bearing the names of 46 writers urging the Congressional Committee on Un-American Activities to "proceed with its work despite all propagandist intimidation and pressure" was made public by Eugene Lyons, writer and former editor of the American Mercury Magazine.

The statement said "hysterical attacks on the committee are a smoke screen designed to shield Communists and their stooges." The signers included Fulton Oursler, John T. Flynn, Kenneth Roberts, Emily Post, William Hazlitt Upson and Sophie Kerr Underwood.

Some other writers have protested the committee's conduct of its investigation into possible Communist influence in Hollywood.

ROYAL TIZZY

LONDON, Nov. 24 (INS)—Every wedding has its crisis, and that of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip was no exception.

It was learned that Buckingham Palace was thrown into a tizzy when the diamond tiara which held the bride's veil in place cracked as the Princess placed it on her head while dressing for the wedding.

The bride remained cool despite the accident. She was quoted as saying, "Send for the jeweler."

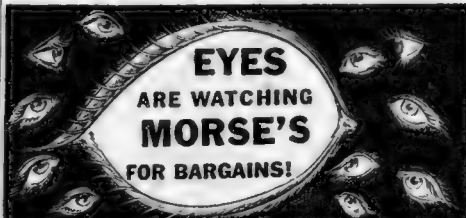

The jeweler wired the tiara together.

Off-Brand Liquor Bargains Hinted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP) —The government handed liquor dealers a hint today that if they want to get rid of slow-moving stuff, they'd better try selling it at bargain prices.

The Internal Revenue Bureau advised its alcohol tax units agents throughout the country to bring "forcibly" to the attention of liquor industry members a Federal statute forbidding turn-backs to wholesalers or producers.

Many handlers became overloaded during the wartime liquor shortage with off-brands that have proved slow moving either because, the bureau said, "the prices at which the liquors were originally purchased are out of line with present prices or because the liquors are no longer acceptable to the public."

The government backs your savings bank, but you MUST back YOUR blood bank. Give blood regularly to the Boston City Hospital.

4 things to remember

AS NEW TELEPHONE NUMBERING PLAN GOES INTO EFFECT

Telephone users throughout the Greater Boston area should think of doing four things on the day they receive their new telephone directory:

- 1 If you have dial service, remove the temporary red and white number plate from your telephone and begin using the new number which is on the permanent black and white plate. (The old plate can be removed quite simply with a finger nail — or a nail file.)
- 2 Dial two letters and five figures (instead of three letters and four figures as you have done in the past). The new digit must be substituted for the third letter in the central office name. In giving a number to the operator, simply add a figure to the central office name. (Be sure to do this, too, when telling someone your own number or giving it to the operator for a long distance call.)
- 3 Begin using the new Boston and Vicinity Telephone Directory right away, discarding your old directory if it is not collected by the telephone company. Look up every number you call, because a figure has been added to every central office name. Also, three central office names have been changed: ARNold to JAMaica 4; RUGgles to HIGHLands 2, and PERkins to WATertown 3.
- 4 Revise your list of personal numbers frequently called in accordance with the new numbering plan.

Here's how easy it is to use this new numbering system
FOR EXAMPLE

HANcock 9981 BECOMES HANcock 6-9981

THIS IS DIALED HA6 9981

SPOKEN "Hancock Six—Nine, Nine, Eight, One"

This plan will help pave the way for operator dialing of long distance calls — a benefit slated for this area within the next few years. And it will allow greater flexibility in naming Boston central offices.

Stars Light Trail of George White

George White has had plenty of luck, from his days of dancing in Bowery saloons through his rise to the Gay White Way and Millions, but not all of it has been good.

The veteran showman, who had created dozens of stars, went bankrupt in 1946, and early this year he was tending sheep in California—for 75 cents a day. Now he is aiming for a fresh start in show business in New York.

White will begin the fascinating story of his star-studded career, "The Luck of George White," in next Sunday's American Weekly, magazine distributed with the Boston Sunday Advertiser.

John Kazman
Chose HAIR

BALDNESS is a matter of choice. Continue to neglect your scalp and you choose baldness. Give it proper attention—as did John Kazman (pictured above) and you choose hair. Mr. Kazman's hair loss resulted from a serious case of alopecia areata. Within four months after he was accepted for Thomas treatment his bald spot was completely filled in with strong new hair.

Perhaps the condition which is causing your loss of hair may, not be as serious as was Mr. Kazman's. Regardless as to the cause, it will surely lead you to baldness unless you promptly take steps to correct it. Thomas treatment can help you, too—just as it helped Mr. Kazman—to overcome dandruff, stop abnormal hair fall and promote hair growth on thin and bald spots. Call today for a free scalp examination. Choose hair—not baldness! Scalp examination, consultation, and treatments are always given in private.

Warren Acclaims Radio Freedom

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 24 (INS)—Gov. Earl Warren of California asserted his belief that America "has led the world in radio because the men who developed it were free men, free to create and to experiment."

Gov. Warren, speaking at ceremonies marking the charging of the San Francisco NBC station's call letters from KFO to KNEC, added:

"I think one of the most important results of this development of the radio industry in America is that we're not bound to listen to just one station or one program or what some individual in a position of importance thinks we ought to hear."

Railmen Hear Abp. Cushing Praise 'Silent Guest' Aid Plan

Ardent support for the "silent guest" plan to provide food for the starving peoples of Europe was voiced by Abp. Cushing, who declared that social responsibility had been an outstanding characteristic of New Englanders from early Colonial days.

SPEAKS TO RAIL MEN

The Archbishop was principal speaker at the first communion breakfast of Boston and Maine Railroad employes and their wives at Exposition Hall, Boston Garden, which followed a memorial mass celebrated at St. Mary's Church by the Rev. Bernard J. Winn, who himself is a former trainman.

"The virtues bound up with social responsibility" on the part of those who have toward those who have not," the Archbishop said, "have never been forgotten in New England. The 'silent guest' plan is based on the thought that no decent man, no decent family can sit down and eat of their own abundance until they have done something to help feed the stranger who is in want—the friend or even the foe who has not been so richly blessed." Earlier, Abp. Cushing spoke to more than 1000 members of the Nocturnal Adoration Society at religion and said they were an a 9 o'clock mass at the Cathedral. He lauded their devotion to their inspiration to all the archdiocese.

Anderson Asks 9 Million More Acres Planted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (INS). Agriculture Sec. Anderson asked American farmers to plant 9,000,000 more acres in 1948 to ease critical world food needs and to keep domestic consumption high.

Anderson called for all-out production of feed grains, including a 7 per cent increase in corn acreage over 1944.

He forecast at the same time that, because of reduced supplies of feed, livestock consumption in the U. S. next year will be down to 143 pounds per capita—13 pounds less than this year.

The overall 1948 goal set by the secretary is near wartime level. The program calls for 296,000,000 acres in cultivated crops and 60,000,000 acres in hay.

Anderson reemphasized that full-speed production will be achieved only at the expense of further soil depletion. He said:

"Today, more than ever, U. S. farm production is a key factor in world recovery.

"But, if this nation is to provide a good share of the food needed so desperately by hungry nations abroad, it will mean an inevitably heavy drain on our already-strained soil resources."

"The continued large acreages suggested for cultivated crops means a delay in working toward a better balance between soil-depleting and soil-conserving crops. In years to come, this will remain an urgent need for greatly accelerated conservation."

An amber ermine coat is modeled by Gloria Allison, of Boston, during fashion show held in the Hotel Statler for delegates to the New England convention of Magicians. FIRST IN IMPORTANCE

THE MOST IMPORTANT thing before the Congress the United States today, although the President of the United States failed to mention it in his message to the special session, is the legislation establishing permanent peacetime program of UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING.

The President would have better served the vital interests this country if he had given proper attention to this thing of utmost importance to the country.

But since he did not do so, it becomes more than ever his RESPONSIBILITY AND DUTY OF CONGRESS to consider the matters of essential national interest in their proper order.

President Truman is amazingly obtuse in this situation, and I would be a menacing and frightening thing if Congress should prove to be equally obtuse.

Mr. Truman has the typical bureaucratic obsession concerning the responsibilities and opportunities of public office.

He can think of the remedy for national emergencies only in terms of vast expenditures and unlimited personal power.

His recommendations to the special session of Congress were in that pattern.

He proposed more and vast expenditures to save Western Europe from Communism, when earlier and equally vast expenditures for the same purpose have failed to gain that end, and for Congress to comply with his proposal would simply be to SEND GOOD MONEY AFTER BAD.

PRESIDENT TRUMAN should realize, and the Congress must certainly understand, that the government of the United States must STOP POURING THE AMERICAN PEOPLE'S MONEY DOWN THE RAT HOLES ABROAD.

As Senator Byrd of Virginia recently reminded the Congress, America has spent NINETEEN BILLION DOLLARS since the war for European relief, and has neither assuaged the hunger of Europe nor prevented the encroachments of Communism.

President Truman's proposed stop-gap expenditure of ANOTHER HALF BILLION DOLLARS now and his proposed expenditure of TWENTY MORE BILLIONS IN THE NEXT FOUR YEARS are little better than the instruments of Europe's permanent mendacity—and may indeed make Europe RIPE FOR COMMUNISM as the current Communist riots in France and Italy attest.

Moreover, Mr. Truman's attempt to obtain a grant of DICTATORIAL POWER from Congress is lifted bodily from the COMMUNIST CONCEPT FOR AMERICA, and is thus a confession of his own lack of faith in Democratic principles and institutions, which inclined Senator Byrd to remark:

"It is a strange doctrine that, to make Europeans free, we must make ourselves at home slaves to a Federal bureaucracy which will dip its wasteful and inefficient hands into every man's business."

FOR A TRIFLING part of the vast sum of the American people's money which President Truman proposes to pour down the European rat holes the vital and indispensable program of UNIVERSAL MILITARY TRAINING could be effectively established and entirely supported and permanently maintained.

The condition of peace which the American people cherish would thus be safeguarded, their formidable and impregnable national defense assured, and their aspiration to national security attained.

Surely there is no more important thing to the American people than the attainment of permanent peace and security, and it is truly an amazing obsession of the President of the United States that he does not put this most important thing FIRST in his recommendations to Congress, but instead diverts and contents himself with further schemes for dissipation of American resources and for cloaking himself with unlimited power.

WOMEN FANCY themselves as experts on style not only for their own attire but also for that of men. Therefore, husbands are always being urged by their spouses to buy new hats. A hat that looks new is definitely not an asset to a man's appearance. His head-gear should have a casual look. To achieve the proper, slightly battered appearance a man should jump on a new hat four or five times. The rest of his attire should be immaculate but that hat should definitely have that casual, careless look. Having thus expressed my opinion I will regretfully cast my beloved old hat aside and at my matrimonial companion's insistent request go and buy a new one. But I am doing it for love, and nothing else.

ASKING: Queries from clients. Q. Those two Philadelphia ex-sergeants are still arguing. Tell us: how long is the B u r m a R o a d? A. Seven hundred and fifty miles. Q. Is Greer Garson Irish or Scotch? A. She was born in Northern Ireland but her mother is descended from the MacGregors of Scotland on her mother's side. Q. Didn't Elizabeth Barrett Browning suggest that if a man was shy it was all right for the girl to propose marriage? A. Don't tell Mrs. Browning advancing that idea. But she did write: But I love you, sir And when a woman loves a man, The man must hear her, Though he love her not.

ASIDES: A Brooklynite says she went to school with a girl named Lulu Pulu . . . Now I have a reader in Prophetstown, Ill. He says he is the proud owner of an electric light bulb that has been in continuous use as a hall light for twenty-three years! . . . Seattle seems the last stand of the ferry boat fan. There are twenty-three ferry boats operating from Seattle.

COMPLAINT: What was the name of that young woman who wrote the article titled, "Latins Are Lousy Lovers?" Anyway, a Cuban girl from Havana who has been in Chicago for two years seems to have a similar opinion of Chicago men. She says a young gentleman of that city took her out regularly for a year and a half before he kissed her. When he finally summoned up the courage to plant a kiss on her eager lips she found the osculation "flat and without thrill. So different from that of the Latins in Havana." The young woman concludes: "So Chicago is the city of wonderful husbands. Wonderful in what way? As little helpers around the house and good providers?"

MULES & MEN: At various times bachelorette subscribers have written in regarding the deplorable tendency of young men escorts to place of entertainment trying to get their feminine companion to pay half the check. How widespread this practice is I cannot say, but an excerpt from a letter from a Pittsburgh bachelor follows: "Pittsburgh girls have a superiority complex. They are interested only in men who show new cars who spend money freely. New York girls are real sports. When you take them out they insist upon paying half the bill for the evening's entertainment."

GET IT RIGHT: A turf scribe lists the great jockey, Winnie O'Connor, among the "horrible examples" of sportsmen who dissipated, thus cutting short their careers, didn't save their money and ended up broke. That's ridiculous and unfair. O'Connor's career as a jockey lasted 25 years. Not many saddle mites have had a longer one. A playboy, yes, but Winnie was always there at post time to give some noble animal a smashing ride. Also, O'Connor saved money, invested in real estate, the income of which should have kept him in comfort for his lifetime. But the man who managed the real estate, with a power of attorney, handled it badly and so O'Connor ended up broke.

PLEASE NOTE: Why the constant reference to "Jersey justice" as being swift and sure? How about Wisconsin justice? I note two men were arrested for rape and murder in that state one day and by the same time the next day they had been tried and convicted and were off to the penitentiary to serve life terms.

SIDELIGHTS: "Piccadilly is probably the most famous street in the world," states the brilliant essayist Hugh Wray. I am glad Hugh said "probably" and not "positively." Broadway, Manhattan, is undoubtedly the world's most famous street. . . . As to that argument regarding Giant Manager John McGraw being a college man. I said I believed he graduated from Niagara University, New York. That was wrong. St. Bonaventure's College, Olean, N. Y., was John's alma mater.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—A few years ago, Robert M. LaFollette, of Wisconsin, Robert the Little, that is, ran a sensational inquiry into the practice of spying on unions. In those days this was held by some to be reprehensible business. For what reason I never learned, the little man who wasn't there never called me, although I was then and have continued to be one of our most successful agents of this kind. Westbrook Pegler

I never made any bones about it. For years and years, beginning soon after the adoption of the Wagner Act, I have run a sort of underground or free labor movement in the American union racket, keeping alive the spark of freedom among the conquered. We do not plant code messages in hollow trees or wear disguises, but sometimes when I had to call up a young fellow in a warehouse who was running a revolution against the A. F. of L. big shot named Ben Pross, I would say, "Tell him this is Meyer." You can imagine what they have done to this boy if I had said, "This is Westbrook Pegler." These Pross rackets are parceled out to Benny by the sacred American labor movement under the political patronage of the late New Deal.

NO, BENNY WOULDN'T have broken my young friend's leg but he had plenty in his mob who would. So, when I called him the girl on the board would sing out, "Hey, Dominic, Meyer is calling" and we would arrange a meeting. This way I found out that Benny had bought himself a big estate on Lake Mahopac, close to the summer villa of honest Ed Flynn, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, who wrote in his book that he once gave a bundle of money to an upstate county chairman to buy a lot of votes and the ticket lost and a few days later the guy showed up in a new Buick.

THE UNITED STATES Employment Service will not send citizens to certain jobs unless they first prove they have paid extortion to some rotten shakedown outfit or given their solemn promise to pay from $50 to $300, to the Roosevelt racketeers.

They can fire a man out of his livelihood for any "disreputable act," for "slandering" the racket and the likes of Benny Pross and Joe Fay; for "creating dissension" and for "disclosing the union's business" to Pegler. And the gangsters are plaintiffs, prosecutors, judges and juries.

The National Maritime Union, under Joe Curran and a nest of traitorous Communists whom Curran later repudiated, used to stew and fret about spies in the membership during the war. And one of those who hollered loudest about the finking rat, Pegler, was my own reliable stiff, right in their midst. He would slide into the arguments on meeting nights and bring up the name of that dirty labor-baiter, Pegler, and the next day I would get the mimeographed minutes and the current number of The Pilot. Sometimes I kind of thought he was laying it on in calling me a rat, scab, fink. He seemed to enjoy it a little too much, the rat, but I must say his information was infallible.

LONG AGO, he told me the white folks were beginning to drift over to Harry Lundeberg's Seafaring Union of the A. F. of L., and this was true. The N. M. U. hall was coming to be known as Uncle Tom's Cabin and the sailors were saying "a white man is as good as a Negro any day—if he behaves himself."

Curran and the Communists were shooting into the N. M. U. hundreds of half-savage Caribbeans and waterfront knife-fighters who were always causing trouble. Then if a non-Communist white boy talked back the Communists would pull him up on charges.

If you referred to a fellow's color in a row at sea, or called him a Communist, you were a Fascist. They fired out one sailor and tied up an Army transport until the government set him on the beach just because he offered a resolution against Communism. Many a one got 99 years' suspension for some remark in a fight. Lundeberg said these were matters to be settled man-fashion, and not union business.

ALL THIS BEACHING of good sailors when we were short-handed at sea finally caused talk and the N. M. U. quit giving out the minutes and began to edit The Pilot tightly. Still, my stiff kept me informed. I had a file higher than a cat's back. I have spies, friends of mine in the teamsters' union, who despise old Dan Tobin, and spies in railroad unions, the boiler-makers, sandhogs and others.

They are all for the Taft-Hartley law. I have always felt sorry that the little man who wasn't there never brought me down to Washington to denounce me fearlessly as a labor spy. I was going to say, yes, he was damn tootin' I was a labor spy. A pro-labor spy, fighting the union rackets to set me free! You know, cheesecake and corn. But some union spy must have warned little Bob, because the invitation never came.

"Mr. Cole, I fear there's been some mistake about your new office wallpaper!"

Maiden Flight—Swooping low over San Diego, Cal., the 400-troop military transport XC-99, world's largest land plane, prepares to land after making an hour's flight during its inauguration. The plane, a double-decker, six-engine sky giant, cruised easily over the city. Thousands swarmed to the airport, stood on streets and rooftops to witness the mighty aircraft go aloft on its maiden trip. The transport has a wing spread of 236 feet.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, MONDAY, NOV. 24, 1947

NEW YORK, Nov. 24—One of the best movies ever made was "Cimarron" with Irene Dunne. Now I have just learned that RKO has sold the rights to MGM and Edna Ferber's great novel will be remade as a musical dressed up in Technicolor.

Kathryn Grayson

Kathryn Grayson is the only member of the large cast selected so far—yes, it's Kathryn Grayson who will play the Irene Dunne role.

Arthur Freed, who will produce, hasn't yet made up his mind about the male lead but Walter Pidgeon may get the part originated by Richard Dix.

JUST A WORD before I leave New York about our New York Women's Newspaper Club's silver anniversary ball. The Duke and Duchess of Windsor made an appearance. She endeared herself to every one present when she spoke over the microphone, and was so witty and amusing she made many new friends.

When Roland Young came forward to take a bow, I asked him if he had married while he was in England. Right out loud he answered, "No, but I would be nice to marry an English person."

Later, the Duchess called me to her table and said, "Would you please tell Mr. Young his words were an understatement—and that to marry someone from England is the nicest thing in the world."

Well, you know me. Up I got, and announced it on the speakers' table.

The duke enjoyed his duchess' remarks as much as everyone else. The Royal couple were at publisher Roy Howard's table. Barne Baruch was the guest of the Sam Goldwyns, also the Herbert Bayard Swope.

LELAND HAYWARD, who has been staying here at the Waldorf, tells me that on Dec. 29, he is bringing Henry Fonda to the stage in "Mr. Roberts." Joshua Logan, who will direct and who has collaborated in the dramatization of Thomas Heggan's book with the author, will be reunited with Henry after many years. They founded the University Players.

I forgot when I queried Leland about his plans that he and Henry are both former husbands of Margaret Sullivan. Well, be that as it may, Leland produced "A Bell for Adano" and "State of the Union" on Broadway. Logan directed "Happy Birthday," "Annie Get Your Gun" and "John Loves Mary," three smash hits running now.

LLOYD C. DOUGLAS has turned down a fortune for the movie rights to his forthcoming novel about St. Peter titled "The Big Fisherman."

The reason is that the central character is the Christ figure, which Douglas feels cannot successfully be portrayed on the screen. Just between you and me, this has been one of the big problems of filming "The Robe."

CHATTER FROM HOLLYWOOD: I had the story weeks ago that Ida Lupino and Collier Young would get married. Then they had a slight tiff and for a week it looked like Cupid was taking the count.

But they kissed and made up and will tell it to a justice of the peace soon after April 26 when Collier's divorce is final. They plan to slip away to a little town near Hollywood to have the knot tied.

John Loder told me his success on Broadway has had one very happy sequel. He received the first letter from Hedy Lamarr that she had written since they parted.

"I hope now she will let me see my children if I go back," he said.

The show, "For Love or Money," has played to packed houses. But John and pretty little June Lockhart shared honors with Lana Turner when I was there. Lana came in with three escorts, and the people in back and on the side of me almost fell out of their seats. "She's so pretty," one woman said. "I want to tell her I have seen all her pictures."

I talked with Lana between acts and she was radiant. I had thought she was a little unhappy a few days ago, but she said, "I talked to him and he's coming home"—meaning, of course, Tyrone Power.

SNAPSHOTS of New York and Hollywood collected at random: George Kaufman entertained Greer Garson, the Humphrey Bogarts and other visiting movie folk at dinner at his home—and that reminds me—I wonder whether it's true that George is going to marry the lovely Valerie Young, Collier's ex? I am told she gave up her home in California to be in the east with the famous playwright.

Spyros Skouras gave a supper party at the Stork Club following Helen Dosta's performance at the Met in "Tosca." She is a countrywoman of the Skourases and made her debut this year.

Gene Tierney and David Selznick were a new dancing combination at Le Pavillon—but don't get the idea he and Jennifer Jones have cooled. She's in Europe with her children.

Gene Tierney

JOHNNY WEISSMULLER's ex, Beryl Scott, seems to have found a new heart interest in the wealthy Los Angeles sportsman, Lynn Rollins. They have a table for two almost nightly at Fox and Hounds.

Duncan McMartin has set January for his marriage to Hilda Parker, Frank's ex.

Peter Lind Hayes, who was too ill to appear at the Copacabana, had an able substitute in his mother, Grace Hayes, who arrived in New York just for the event. She did a two-hour stint. With Mrs. Hayes was Hal Price, her romance of the moment.

Richard Ney, who has had the stage bug for sometime, plays the lead in that show Freddie de Cordova is directing, "The Master's Chair." It comes to Broadway via Santa Barbara and San Francisco.

John Perona, of El Morocco fame, showed me a Papal decoration he received. He is rightly proud of it. He also showed it to Jim Farley, who was with a large party at a dinner given by Beth Leary in honor of the younger girl, Anna Ellen, who was married Saturday at St. Patrick's to Edward John Hickey. The elder Farley daughter is engaged.

Randolph Churchill, son of England's beloved ex-prime minister, in the Stork Club for late supper. He looks so much like his father it's amazing. He has been on a tour.

Strolling down Fifth ave. at 3 a. m. were Annabella and Anatole Litvak. He was the last person she saw in New York.

I have had several elevator chats with Mrs. Margaret Emerson. (She is the mother of Alfred Vanderbilt, and is more beautiful than ever. Her hair is white, and she wears it in soft curls over her head. I met Alfred walking along the street coming from luncheon. I went to meet him at the races in Hollywood at Santa Anita, and I almost said, "have you a winner?")

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

WEEK-END CHATTER: Aerlinte Eireann (Irish Airlines) office, Arlington st.: "Those five Transatlantic planes of ours will be named after saints," says Warren H. Smith, local manager. "Certainly St. Patrick, and probably St. Bridget, St. Brendan, St. Kevin and St. Enda. They'll be christened with ceremonies appropriate to saints' names. We're seeking overseas test flights now and by March the four-motor Constellations will be flying from New York and Boston to Dublin, London and Rome."

... Touraine Surrey Room: "The Marine Corps is down from 480,000 to 80,000 since the war," remarks Lt. Col. Thomas H. Culhane, USMC. "We must sign up 100,000 reserves, 50,000 for weekly drills, 70,000 more just to stand by and be ready in case of national emergency." (Note: Navy men, when separated, were kept in the reserve; Marines, generally speaking, were not.)

STATLER BALLROOM: "A good magician has got to be a good actor," warns Dal Vernon as he not only fools his audience of maricians but even confuses himself with a shell-game 2000 years old. "Your face has got to believe in what you're kidding your audience into believing. Never let anybody know you do a trick that involves a principle of magic. Never repeat a trick. Never prove anything you don't have to—that's a giveaway."

MUSIC BOX: "The publishers think my song 'Just Another Guy' will be a hit," confides Herb Lewis, author of both the music and lyrics, as he dismounts from the revolving bar after singing: "I'm just another guy who fell in love with you; you're just another girl who never could be true." ... Edith Busch (about to wow the gathering, singing "One Alone" from "The Desert Song," with Hubby Roy Lane) whispers: "I'll be a dream come true—Thanksgiving day in Boston. We're going to have turkey dinner with Mr. Samuel Tyler, the assistant minister of Trinity Church. Roy used to direct the choir in Mr. Tyler's church, St. Paul's, in St. Louis."

SOUTH STATION: Medley of voices leaving the Harvard Club Special: "Temporary Mayor Hynes was at the game with Andrew Dazzi. Remember when Andy was Maurice Tobin's biggest booster, then switched to Bob Bradford? What do you pose he's up to now?" "Sonny McDonough of the Governor's Council (and South Boston) met the South Boston Redmond brothers, Dr. Jimmy, Paul and John at the Bowl. 'Where you living now?' he asked Jimmy. 'Milton,' said

Jimmy. 'Where you living?' he asked Paul. 'Southboro,' said Paul. 'Where you living?' he asked John. 'New York,' said John. 'A fine how-do-you-do,' said Sonny. 'Not a vote for me in the whole three of you.' ... Copley Plaza Merry-Go-Round: "We have received a letter from a little Medford, girl," says a National Broadcasting Company official. "She is angry over the 'Hit Parade.' Here's what she writes: 'Gentlemen: Where is the Dixie beat in 'Near You'? No wonder it isn't Number 1, with your orchestra playing it ALL wrong. Signed: A Listener (Perturbed).'"

TREMONT AND BOYLSTON: "I'd like to give you an idea what some kids are made of," says Atty. Eddie Cohen, who has handled 300 court cases for veterans and near lost one or charged a never. "Let's call him Bill Young. When Bill was a baby, his dad died. His mother remarried. Then when Bill was 15, he came home from school one day and found his mother and stepfather had moved. He never saw them again. He went to his aunt and she told him: 'I'll put you in an orphan asylum.' 'No, thanks,' said Bill. He shifted for himself, selling papers, doing any jobs he could find, supporting himself—just a kid, of his mind you. On his 17th birthday he enlisted in the Marines. He had to have a guardian's signature, so the recruiting officer called me. I called in Bill's aunt. 'I won't pay you a nickel,' she said. 'You don't have to,' I told her. She finally signed and I took Bill to lunch and he adopted me as his Uncle Eddie. I'm the only person in the world that kid has to write to. He finally got to Guam where he got new orders as chief medical officer and they got together for a celebration. But do you know, that kid got only one Christmas present last year—from me. But he's made good. Don't tell me these kids today haven't got what it takes!"

PARKER HOUSE LOBBY: "The Army put 102 soldiers to death during the war," remarks an ex-judge advocate, who is bashful about allowing his name to be mentioned. "Every execution was for murder or rape, except one which was for deserting twice under fire. As I hear it, that last was the first execution since the Civil War for a purely military offense. I understand the Navy didn't execute anybody." ... Gossip heard along the Rialto: Calypso, late of the Shubert, will be known as "Caribbean Carnival" when it opens next Friday night in New York ... "Eastward in Eden," which played two weeks at the Plymouth, won the acclaim of only two Broadway critics ... John Gielgud and Lillian Gish open on a Broadway stage next month in Dosztojevsky's "Crime and Punishment." (In our opinion that's the greatest "detective" story, and the only book except the Bible which creates complete sympathy for a woman of the streets.)

ECHOES from out-of-town. Washington — Congressman Thomas J. Lane: "In the Boston regional office of the Veterans Administration, the personnel cut has resulted in inefficiency and delay. The Boston office was reduced 10 per cent. Other regional offices throughout the country, with a much smaller case load, were cut only 1 1/2 per cent. This has caused a traffic jam which threatens to paralyze the functions of the Veterans Administration in this area. We need a deficiency appropriation."

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—While I would be the last to criticize Sen. Ferguson and his war investigating committee, I wish he had not switched so abruptly from Johnny Meyer to Bennett Meyers. Things are confusing enough around here as it is.

A guy who admires Meyer or disdains Meyers is liable to get mixed in Meyers. Moreover, it is not conducive to amity, because Meyer's sore at Meyers already without Meyers getting Meyer's dander up any further, and it may lead to family complications, too, because Mrs. Meyer's Meyer could be confused with Mrs. Meyers Meyers and wouldn't that be a pretty kettle of fish, if you like your fish in kettles?

Suggested slogan for the committee: "Don't change Meyers in the middle of a hearing."

HOUSE MAJORITY Leader Charles Halleck, who swings more weight with the Republicans than seven derricks, was in the Shoreham Blue Room the other night, surrounded by an illustrious crew. In fact the place was swarming with celebrities, including Sen. Capehart of Indiana; Sen. Byrd of Virginia; ex-Sen. La Follette of Wisconsin, and Gen. Eichelberger.

As is his wont, Barne, the old maestro, got up to introduce the more luminous of the luminaries. Whereupon Halleck sidled up and whispered: "I've got a fellow with me I want you to give a plug!"

"For goshakes!" exclaimed the old baton, impressed. "He must be really somebody. Who is he?"

"Who is he?" echoed the majority leader. "He's the fellow who can get me a car!"

MR. JAMES KEVIN McGUINNESS, who used to be a newspaper columnist but decided it was more fun to make money and became one of the biggest of the biggest—Goldwyn-Mayer, has Hollywood after unloading on the film colony Rides here.

In the same trenchant style he employed in the service of Munsey, he reports:

"Now that the shooting has died down for a while—except for the steady sniping from the left—I feel that the Thomas committee did a good job on the whole. Certainly, the public reaction has been almost universally condemnatory of the contemptuous and contemptible tactics of the Reds."

It is good to get out of this poison ivy tangle of the cinema colony occasionally and be reassured that the old virtues still sprout throughout the rest of the country; and that, to the "brilliant" Americans, Congress still the body which is our laws, however much they retain our right to yelp individual congressmen.

My definite reaction is set among the heads of the film colony who are finally hearing the people talk in no ordinary fan letters. The new correspondence has taken on the form of letters from many Dutch uncles, and the management echelons of the movies are being told in firm terms that they have some cleaning-up to do. Which same, I think, will be done quietly if the pressure continues.

"Of course, if those boys in the dome compartments get a week free from reminders they will fall back into the old familiar ways of doing nothing."

The boys and gals who flew East from here to Congress just where it gets off are now scared to death. That is, the dupes among them are. A few of the die-hards are fuming and snarling, but they are going to have a difficult time hereafter recruiting as many innocents as they have been able to in the past.

"If the permanent pinks haven't had the fear of God put into them, at least they are faced with fear of the box office; and that's really the deity for a lot of them."

$3619 Pay Doesn't Attract GIs to Guard Hess Prison 82d Airborne Ranks To Hit War Strength

BERLIN (AP)—Jobs guarding Rudolf Hess and six other major Nazi war criminals confined in Berlin's Sandau prison are going begging, the American military government disclosed as it began advertising for the needed guards. The Berlin Daily Bulletin, circulated to American occupation personnel, carried a notice offering "openings for positions as prison guards at Spandau." The gross pay is $3619 a year.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (INS)—The Dept. of the Army announced the 82d Airborne Division will be brought up to full strength, marking the first time a military unit has been fully manned since the end of World War II.

The department called the move "a practical basis for the testing of new tables of organization and equipment."

Rise in Bank Credits Spurs Lending Curb

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (AP)—A $1,271,000,000 increase in credits extended by 5019 national banks between June 30 and Oct. 6 provided the Administration with a new argument for its program to put brakes on the banks' ability to lend.

Currency Comptroller Preston A. Delano reported the increase as Federal Reserve Board and Treasury officials prepared to appear before the joint economic committee of Congress this week in support of credit curbs.

Green Opens War On Latin Reds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (INS)—AFL president William Green served notice that spokesmen for his organization will take up the cudgels against Communist influences in Latin American labor at a hemispheric labor conference opening in Lima, Peru, Jan. 10.

Green, in a formal statement, bluntly accused Vicente Lombardo Toledano and his Latin American Confederation of Labor of re-summing what he called their efforts "to undermine the prestige of our country in Latin America."

The AFL leader charged that Toledano and his associates are engaged in smearing the U. S. throughout South America and Central America and are trying to lure Latin workers into the Communist camp.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

Copyright, 1947, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.

THIS COUNTRY ONCE HAD A Vice-President who was undoubtedly mad. He was saddened by unsatisfied ambition to gain the presidency. He had killed a man in was, of course, Aaron Burr.

The British ambassador to the United States, who was a party to this conspiracy, wrote:

"It is astonishing that the government here should have remained so long in ignorance of the intended design as even not to know with certainty at this moment the object of the preparations which they have learned are now making."

GEN. JAMES WILKINSON was the Governor-General of the new Louisiana territory which the United States had purchased from France. But it was this so James Wilkinson who, as early as 1787, had entered into a conspiracy with Governor Miro, the Spanish ruler of Louisiana, to separate American territory from the Alleghenies and turn it into a vast empire under the protection of Spain.

This particular movement failed but when Burr appeared on scene it was one of the various schemes that formed the aim of his treason. Henry Adams recounts that Joseph H. Davis, who was a United States district attorney in Kentucky, wrote President Jefferson:

"A separation of the union in favor of Spain is the object finally. I know not what the means..." He also warned the President that General Wilkinson "... has been for years and now is, a pensioner of Spain..."

It is astonishing to read the names of the leading citizens of some how found their way into the Burr plot. But the most incongruous name of all is that of Andrew Jackson, who seemed to be head over heels involved in

HENRY ADAMS says of the "On Jackson's part this conduct was peculiarly surprising because more than a month before he had written to Governor Claiborne at New Orleans a secret denunciation of Burr and Wilkinson, couched in language which showed such intimate knowledge of Burr's plans that could have come only from Burr himself or Adams.

"In accepting Burr's disavowal, Dec. 14, Jackson did not mention to Burr his denunciation letter written to Claiborne Nov. 12, in which he said, 'I fear treachery has become the order of the day.' Like Sen. Smith, he was satisfied to secure his own safety; and upon Burr's denial of treasonable schemes, Jackson, although he did not write to Claiborne to withdraw the secret charges, went on building boats, providing supplies, and enlisting men for Colonel Burr's expedition. He refused for this conduct to resign his own secret."

Of course, the Burr conspiracy failed. It was Wilkinson, general in the Army and servant of alien government, that finally destroyed Burr, undoubtedly to save himself and his alien masters. Wilkinson was more concerned with saving Mexico than the United States. He enjoyed a pension of $2000 a year (then enormous money) in consideration of his secret services—a pension he was paid for 20 years.

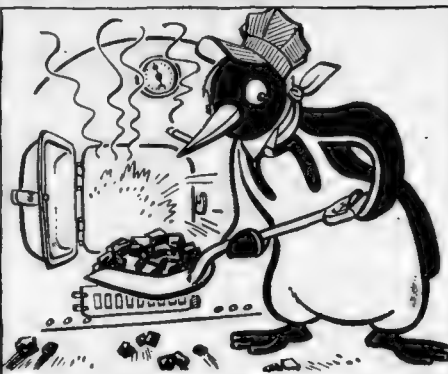

Wilkinson was General-in-Chief of the United States Army when he was serving an alien master.

THE ASTONISHING fact is that a former Vice-President of the United States, a candidate for the Presidency almost elected, joined by one who in time actually became President, together with generals, businessmen, bankers, politicians united to destroy the country and were willing to accept foreign subventions.

And they faced a government asleep that would not wake up until it was almost too late. It was a God-given good fortune that saved this country from Burr's conspiracy—not anything else. For Burr worked almost in the open.

Does history really repeat itself? Does it?

Assignment: America

By KENNETH L. DIXON

WASHINGTON, Nov. 24 (INS)—Apparently somebody is going to have to rise up and state the bald facts in the case of former Maj. Gen. Bennett E. Meyers, so here goes—and this information is from individuals either in the Army or connected with the Senate war investigating subcommittee.

Plenty of other people, in uniform and out, knew of Meyers' dealings during the war, including his military, financial and extra-curricular activities.

Naturally, this will be denied by most of them at this point—simply because none of them wants to be connected with the general at this stage of the game.

MEYERS STILL WRONG

This does not, in any way, justify what Meyers admits he has done nor clear him of any of those charges which he has not yet admitted. It does, however, serve to underscore a couple of sideline issues which have arisen during the testimony concerning his alleged profits from war contracts while serving as procurement officer for same.

One of those issues has been brought up by Maj. Gen. Manton S. Eddy, chief of the Army Information Service, who recently charged that there was a sinister campaign afoot to poison the public mind against the American military profession.

Whether Gen. Eddy really believes that or whether he was just foolishly advised by some of his staff members to make such a statement is a debatable question.

Even Gen. Eddy's superior officer admitted ruefully, after reading Meyers' testimony, that he was "almost ashamed" to show his face outside his home because "that so-and-so has made all generals look terrible!"

REAPING WHIRLWIND

In short, if there is any sort of anti-military pe'con in the public mind today it merely means that, by permitting the likes of Meyers to get away with what they did, the Army now is reaping the whirlwind, so to speak.

Another issue was spotlighted by the Armvets National commander, Edward C. Corry, Jr., who said:

"It is a downright insult to the countless other men who have earned these decorations that Meyers should be permitted to wear the Distinguished Service Medal and the Legion of Merit."

Corry asked immediate revocation of those service decorations. REFLECTS IN RECRUITING

Now we get to the key point: The Army's recruiting program is not going nearly as well as had been hoped. And at least one of the reasons why was exemplified the other day in the words of a wounded veteran who attended the Meyers hearing.

"No wonder the boys aren't signing up," he said. "When they hear stuff like this, how some of the non-combat brass was acting during the war, you can't blame them for not volunteering."

The same thing seems to have held true for West Point this year. When the fall term was about to start, the military academy found itself short of a lot of future generals.

It's the sort of thing which soon could get quite serious—particularly if we feel that preparedness is of importance these days.

All in all, it might seem that the Army, the Navy and the Air Force could do well to concentrate more on having their high-ranking officers toe the legal line, and less on trying to overlook or whitewash their extra-curricular activities!

Have Smudge-Proof Lips

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE, Beauty and Fashion Editor

IT IS HIGH TIME more women realized that lipstick should stay where it is supposed to be . . . on the lips . . . and not on the rim of a drinking glass, or the prongs of a fork, or the coffee spoon, or the napkin, or the cigaret . . . or even the Big Moment's cheek.

NOW a gal can forget about the eternal problem of lipstick smearing, smudging and coming off at the most inopportune moments . . . and like beautiful Virginia Mayo, star of the Samuel Goldwyn productions . . . have lip loveliness that looks and is relatively permanent. An amazing clear liquid will keep your favorite lipstick where it belongs . . . on your lips!

There are too many ring-around-a-rosy girls leaving their cosmetic imprint on everything with which their colored lips come in contact. And that's not nice. That's not to say, however, that women should forfeit their lipstick . . . but they really should learn of and avail themselves of a new and sensational protective specifically designed to keep the color of the kissables where it belongs.

This is NOT a lipstick . . . nor is it a lacquer. It is a clear liquid that acts as a guardian for your lipstick beauty for hours and hours . . . at the same time safeguarding things for which the mouth has an affinity.

GOES ON OVER YOUR LIPSTICK

You use your favorite lipstick as always. But over it . . . you brush this clear liquid. Let it dry for a few minutes. Then smoke and see your cigaret stay snow-white . . . drink from your water glass and be surprised at the lack of lipstick telltale marks on its rim. Eat and drink and find your lipstick on your lips . . . not on your cutlery or napkin.

The other day at luncheon with friends . . . we all ash-trayed our cigarets before partaking of food. Mine was the only clean-white cigaret in the tray. And were my friends surprised. Then we told them about this unusual new cosmetic which assures lipstick permanence for several hours and safeguards the lips from smearing everything they touch.

This lip cosmetic for clear permanence has found astounding and ready acceptance since we discussed it in another column some five months ago. This lip-stay has no drying effect on the lips . . . but does leave them with an added alluring sheen. In addition it defines the mouth with a splendid perfection . . . as though it had been drawn on a canvas. There is no "bleeding" of the lipstick when this liquid is applied over its application.

FULL, BLOOMING COLOR

Full directions come with the bottle. After you apply it . . . you'll notice that the lipstick color takes on a soft, golden hue . . . but not for long. After this liquid dries . . . the shade of your lipstick will return in full and blooming color . . . the one you've selected as best for you.

And don't become alarmed if you experience a slight tingling sensation when you cover your lip coloring. That, too, is only momentary and quickly disappears. Men are certain to cheer this cosmetic . . . for, to our knowledge and experience, men don't like to see things smeared with lipstick when entertaining a gal at cocktails or dinner.

Don't ever sell a man's sense of the esthetic short. They like women to be fastidious . . . even about lipstick!

For the name of this lip-stay cosmetic for smudge-proof, smear-proof lips, phone the Beauty Dept., Liberty 2-4000, any day except Sunday, or write to me, care of the Boston American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

"THIS GAY 'plaidabout' for town and country in Tartan wool combining red with green or navy . . . is one of the cheeriest charmers in Claire McCordell's expansive collection. Its smooth midriff accented by a high neckline and shawl-like drape on the bodice and over the shoulders is like a page of the fashion past modernized for this season. And modernized, too, is the fabric-covered zipper . . . Walde Kover-Zip . . . which picks up the background color to become a fashion part of the dress."

Half Turkey Easy to Roast

By MARTHA LEE, Household Editor

TRADITIONALLY American is roasted stuffed turkey for Thanksgiving. Plump with savory stuffing and roasted to golden brown, turkey is the ideal choice for a holiday dinner. With the food conservation program asking us to save whenever possible, a roasted turkey offers a good chance for tasty leftover meals, too.

When ready to stuff, sprinkle inside cavity with tabasco seasoned salt (3 drops of tabasco to 1 tsp. of salt). Fill the body cavity and neck region with dressing, being careful not to pack it tightly as it swells during cooking. Fasten the opening with skewers and lace shut with a stout cord. Bring the neck skin over and skewer onto the back. Truss the bird and place breast-side down on rack in an open pan. Grease outside with tabasco seasoned butter or margarine (¼ tsp. tabasco sauce to ¼ cup butter or margarine). Cover with a clean white dampened cloth, moistened with the tabasco seasoned butter or margarine left in bowl.

Roast at 325 deg. F. for ¾ to 4 hours or until tender (for a 10 to 15 lb. bird). Remove the cloth the last 20 to 30 minutes if a deeper brown is desired.

STUFFING

- 3 qts. soft bread cut into ½ inch cubes
- 1 cup butter or margarine, melted
- 1½ cup chopped onion
- 1½ cup chopped parsley
- 1 cup chopped celery
- 2 tsp. salt ¼ tsp. black pepper
- ¼ tsp. tabasco sauce
- 5 cups hot water

Place bread cubes in mixing bowl. Add melted butter or margarine slowly, stirring with a fork to evenly distribute it over bread cubes. Add onion, parsley, celery, salt and pepper. Add tabasco sauce to hot water and pour slowly over bread mixture, tossing lightly with a fork.

GRAVY

- ¾ cup drippings (from roast)
- ½ cup all-purpose flour
- ¼ cup turkey fat 1 tsp. salt
- 8 drops of tabasco sauce
- 3 cups hot water

Place drippings in sauce pan. Blend flour with fat and add to drippings. Stir and cook over low flame. Add seasonings and hot water. Cook until thickened. Makes 8 to 10 servings—¾ quart.

In a half turkey you have the same variety a whole turkey offers—white and dark meat, and half of the giblets and neck for giblet gravy. Carving can be done exactly as for the whole bird. A half turkey is an excellent way for a new bride to start her turkey carving experience. The handling and cooking of a half turkey is simple. Just follow the instructions below:

PREPARING HALF TURKEY

Rub the cavity (cut side) with salt (½ tsp. per pound of bird). Skewer skin to breast meat. Tie leg just above the knuckle joint securely to tail. Place turkey, cut side down, on a rack in a shallow pan. Brush bird with melted fat and cover with fat-moistened cheese cloth. Roast in pre-heated oven set at 325 deg. F. Allow about 25 to 30 minutes per pound. Spoon fat from bottom of pan to re-moisten cloth if necessary during roasting. Remove cloth if more browning is desired toward end of roasting time. Press the fleshy part of the drumstick with the fingers protected by a cloth or paper. If very soft, the meat is done.

DRESSING FOR HALF TURKEY

Allow scant ½ cup of dressing per pound bird. Mound dressing on a well-greased double thickness of waxed paper to approximately the shape of the half turkey's cavity. When the bird is about half done (1½ to 2 hours), remove from oven and place paper with dressing on rack. Replace half turkey over the dressing and continue roasting until done. Bake extra dressing in pan last hour of roasting, basting with pan juices.

their sons or daughters through their school days.

So let's assume that Dad is going to provide the funds, no matter who does the inviting to the prom, and go on from there. As I see it, there may be two ways out of your dilemma, and you can take your choice. The first would be to make the prom a 50-50 affair; in other words, the girls and their escorts could go "Dutch," as is so often the custom among young people these days in going out on dates. This would not make the price too hard on anybody and neither the boys nor the girls would feel financially imposed upon.

As for the other suggestion, Leap Year is coming along soon, so why not anticipate it a bit by letting the girls ask the boys to the dance?

Hostess Gowns Again Popular

By EILEEN CALLAHAN

THE HOSTESS gown is becoming important again. Not as formal as an evening gown nor as intimate as a house coat, it combines the best qualities of each and has the added advantage of making a woman both beautiful and comfortable. The chance to wear one of the lovely new hostess gowns will probably be the excuse for a lot of parties this winter.

The trend in hostess gowns is away from the purely decorative, sheer materials and toward the more practical, warmer fabrics. Sheer wools in white or chalky pastels are especially notable. Heavy crepes retain their popularity. Cotton quilted in lovely flower patterns is solidly established for a long stay.

Sketched today is a hostess gown that Juliette Gallian designed for Janis Carter to wear in Columbia's new picture, "I Love Trouble." It is made of white jersey that falls in long, loose folds. The deep, round neckline and the long, tight cuffs are beaded in varying shades of bronze.

Truman's Control Program Credited to Left-Wing Adviser

By DAVID SENTNER

Boston Evening American Washington Bureau WASHINGTON, Nov. 24—J. Donald Kingsley—new Left-wing bureaucrat who has recorded in print his program for a social and economic postwar revolution—is a key economic adviser to the Administration, it was learned today.

The plan to re-regiment the American people through the return of price and wage controls, as outlined to Congress by President Truman, is attributed to the Kingsley influence.

AIDED TARIFF CUTS

An ardent advocate of internationalism and limiting national sovereignty, Kingsley is authoritatively reported to have had much to do with putting over the drastic lowering of tariffs through the Geneva international trade agreements.

As executive secretary to the President's scientific research board the former Antioch College teacher is credited with masterminding the board's five-volume report.

Among other aspects of planned economy, this report would put virtually all scientific research under the government and also subsidize the research laboratories of foreign nations under the Marshall plan.

SEES REVOLUTION

Here are some excerpts from "strategy for democracy," by Kingsley, published in 1942:

"Every omen of a revolutionary age is present. The national state as we have known it is in the throes of violent death."

"We must give much more serious consideration to the proposal to limit the use of military force by individual states through the creation of an international army and air force."

"We must first of all destroy economic nationalism at the roots, together with all of the tariffs, embargoes and export quotas to which it leads."

Aimee M'Pherson's Mother Succumbs

HERMOSA BEACH, Cal., Nov. 24 (AP)—Mrs. Minnie (Ma) Kennedy, 78, mother of the late Evangelist Aimee Semple McPherson, died in her sleep at her home here. Death was believed due to a heart attack but the body was turned over to the coroner for examination.

Mrs. Kennedy, an evangelist for years before she broke with her daughter and others at Angelus Temple, headquarters of Aimee's Four Square Gospel Church, was last seen by Rev. K. F. Nance, a neighbor. Her body was discovered by her secretary, Mrs. Helen Monroe.

Rail 'Sandwich Strikes' Resumed in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 24 (AP)—Railwaymen on five British-run lines, demanding that minimum pay be boosted from $50 to $75 a month, went out on the second unofficial midnight-to-midnight "sandwich strike."

Their schedule called for them to spend 24 hours on the job and 24 off. The rail union has disowned the strike movement.

Couple Wed Day Found Dead in Car

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 24 (AP)—A young honeymoon couple, married in secret the day before their scheduled church wedding, were found dead of carbon monoxide poisoning in an automobile parked behind a country graveyard.

State Police identified the couple as Bridges W. Pittard, Jr., 24, Carnegie Tech student, and his bride, the former Helen Grove Brown, 21. Both were residents of Bellevue, a Pittsburgh suburb. Police said they were married by an alderman in Pittsburgh Friday.

An air hose connected to the exhaust pipe had been inserted through the window of the car. It was held in place by black tape, and Pittard's overcoat had been stuffed in the window to seal out air. Pittard's father said his son had "everything to live for" and had not seemed depressed.

Thanksgivin' is around the corner an' wid it, one of the year's biggest berpin' contests! Turnips an' mashed potatoes an' squash an' cranberries an' turkey drumsticks an' oh boy! This is the day I wear an oversized feed bag! I do declare that the idea we should not of have an invisible guest from the hungry millions in Yurope an' donate the dough to some worthy charity fer overseas relief, meets wid my approval. I take Thanksgivin' personally. I always add up my blessings and the things I'm thankful for. They include my good spouse an' daughters an' my help witch is mighty good to me helpin' me run my pleasure place. I'm thankful I gotta place to sleep an' good meals to eat an' lots of other things. I ain't proud; I'm glad to admit that I got good things an' I appreciate 'em! Wile I'm on the subject, the night before Thanksgivin' an' the next night is good times to drop in fer fun and frolic an' a taste or two fer holiday cheer! A few hours after ya have put on the feed bag, ya'll need some eckserize to work the food down an' ware kin ya do it better than in my Grille or El Tropic Room, the man-about-town's paradise. 34 Yanks Have Cost Collins Plenty This Season

By JACK CONWAY

Ted Collins' Yanks will end up with a deficit of close to $100,000 for the season even if they get good weather and play before a 30,000 crowd when they meet the Washington Redskins at Fenway Park next Sunday afternoon . . . The 15,000 gathering as the Yanks won from the Eagles in a late fourth-period surge by a 21 to 14 count only included 11,000 cash customers.

The Yanks took their biggest loss when they journeyed to Los Angeles to beat the Rams before 19,000 persons . . . It amounted to $24,000 . . . The Yanks have a yearly payroll of $200,000 . . . Salaries of $5000 to $10,000 are no longer uncommon . . . When Cliff Battles was a back for the Boston Redskins, in the days of George Marshall's control of the local professional football situation, he received only $150 a game . . . Professional football today is a career rather than a sport at which a player can pick up some extra spending money.

Frank Seno, fullback, had as much to do with the Yanks' winning touchdown as did Frank (Boley) Danczewicz of Lynn who scored it . . . Seno picked up 30 yards on a forward pass from Danczewicz, made 17 yards on two rushes, and took the only player out of Danczewicz's path on his six-yard touchdown dash . . . On what proved the winning play of the game, Danczewicz had dropped back to throw a forward pass . . . When he saw all receivers covered, he rushed the ball himself, and Seno made the block necessary to assure a Yanks' victory.

Clipper Smith has made progress with the Yanks . . . It is a certainty he will be back with the Yanks next season . . . Ted Collins has lost $500,000 on his Boston football venture, but he has no intention of giving up . . . He realizes that if he is able to get a winning team that his club will become a money maker . . . It is necessary to have a 30,000 crowd at a professional football game to show a profit.

BU Drew 44,000 at Home Games

"Buff" Donelli's Boston University football team, which gained some glory when it scored an upset in its final game of the season, only drew 44,000 persons at its home games this season . . . There were 33,000 more customers on hand when BU played Harvard in the Stadium in a "road" game . . . The breakdown of the attendance figures follows:

NYU, 7000; William & Mary, 6000; Purdue, 12,000; Fordham, 3000; King's Point, 2000 (barely enough money in the box office to pay for the train fare and hotel bills of the visiting team); Colgate, 10,000; Harvard (at the Stadium), 33,000.

These figures prove conclusively that BU's student body of between 28,000 and 30,000 persons did not give its full support to the football team . . . BU is making an effort to go big time in its football program, and Donelli's club rated better support from the student body and alumni than it received.

BC-Holy Cross Game Will Be Sellout

The Boston College-Holy Cross game at Braves Field on Saturday afternoon will sell out . . . There will be few of the 4100 students at Boston College missing from the game . . . Ticket sale records at the Heights show that almost 100 per cent of the student body has attended each of the Eagles' games this season . . . The students have also sold to friends most of the other tickets for the BC games.

It is hoped there will be a dry field for the BC-Holy Cross clash . . . The wet, slippery field held back both BC and St. Mary's on Saturday.

Harlow Plans to Remain at Harvard

Dick Harlow insists he will remain at Harvard as head football coach . . . Harlow has no immediate intentions of giving up his present football berth, and he is already looking ahead to next season.

Hannegan Combine Paid $3,500,000 for Cardinals

By BILL CORUM

Copyright, 1947, by International News Service

NEW YORK, Nov. 24 (INS)—If you would like to address a letter to Postmaster General Robert E. Hannegan just send it to the "President of the St. Louis Cardinals St. Louis, Mo.

Naturally, you will be expected to pay for the stamp. Business is business—in stamps or sports.

Hannegan, a member of President Truman's cabinet, of course, and the man most responsible for his being President; the Skouras brothers of motion picture fame; Sidney Saloman, Jr., of St. Louis, and one or two other St. Louisans, have purchased the Cardinals and their affiliated clubs for $3,500,000 from Owner Sam Breadon.

The deal, which has been on and off the fire since last summer, was to have been announced in St. Louis tomorrow.

Money-wise, it is the biggest deal in baseball history, the price exceeding what was paid for the New York Yankees by almost a million dollars.

It is strictly a St. Louis deal. That is, if the three Skouras brothers, who began their fabulous rise to fortune there, still are to be accounted St. Louisans.

Spyros Skouras is president of Twentieth Century-Fox. Charlie, the eldest, heads the vast chain of Skouras theaters on the West Coast.

George, the youngest, operates the Eastern chain and is the most torrid baseball fan—and always a Cardinal fan—of the three.

If things should go badly for Manager Eddie Dyer, my good friend George might be in there pitching by July.

Hannegan is a native of St. Louis. He was a football star at St. Louis University and has been a lifelong fan of the two St. Louis teams. Until he resigned, a fortnight ago, he was on the board of directors of the Browns.

Bob Hannegan is really Breadon's hand-picked successor. For years they were next door neighbors in St. Louis and always have been intimate friends.

As a matter of fact, this sale of one of baseball's most important and successful properties—it comprises not only the Cards but a dozen Class AAA and minor league clubs, including Rochester, N. Y., and Houston, Tex., who have their own parks—originated when Sam made a call on his 70th birthday to Hannegan in Washington.

The St. Louis owner went on to say that at 70 a fellow couldn't count on 70 more years and that he had no male heir to whom to leave his baseball holdings.

"I have seen too often that leaving ball teams to women won't work," he went on to say, "and I don't know anybody that I'd like to see take over the Cardinals as much as you."

The Sidney Saloman, Jr., who is a member of the purchasing syndicate, is a well known sportsman in St. Louis. A wealthy insurance man, he is a crack glofer and a winner of several amateur titles. It is possible that Winn Evans and Gael Sullivan also will have some stock.

We were talking with Mgr. Eddie Dyer last evening and he told us that while he was sorry to lose Breadon as an employer after working for him for 25 years, he knew Hannegan well and felt that he could safely promise him a contending team next year.

"Pitchers 'Red' Munger and Howie Pollett," Eddie told us, "have had successful operations for bone chips in their arms and are back to the top."

The writers sincerely hopes so. A nicer group of new owners couldn't have succeeded a great owner and gentleman—Sam Breadon.

Zanelli Defends Crown Against Priest Tonight

By JACK CONWAY, JR.

Ralph Zanelli, current New England middleweight champion at the age of 32, has had 23 main bouts at the Boston Garden over the span of years, but not many of them have reached the fever pitch of his 12-round bout tonight with Al "Red" Priest, Cambridge, for the title.

More than 10,000 persons will jam the Garden and pay close to $25,000 for the privilege of seeing the two fighters meet in the return match.

It was just a short while ago that Priest, a heavy favorite, was toppled from his middleweight throne by an inspired Zanelli.

Zanelli was only credited with one of 12 rounds in that Providence battle.

"Red is in great shape for tonight's fight," said Mgr. Johnnie Buckley. "Red will enter the ring a 10-8 favorite in the betting. He has never lost a fight in the ten times that he has fought at the Garden."

Matty Norton, who will work with Priest tonight, states that Priest has drawn the immense total of 90,000 persons who paid $28,000 to see him fight in Garden battles. Best of these was the Garden record gate of $39,994 which was realized from the first Priest-Tommy Sullivan fight held a year ago. Priest won a decision that time. He later knocked Sullivan out.

Zanelli arrived in town from his Providence training headquarters with the news that he had sold 5000 tickets to Rhode Island supporters. Priest has sold about 2500 dupcats to Cambridge fans.

Tonight's fight will have great crowd appeal. Priest, 26, the Navy veteran of landings in France, de-throned by a man who was supposed to be all through with big time fighting. Zanelli, 32, the capable veteran who had heeded the

56 Snow Real Blessing To Hunters and Skiers

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN, MONDAY, NOV. 24, 1947

By "TAP" GOODENOUGH
FRANCONIA, N. H., Nov. 24—There's snow in these woods and hills, and the heavenly tapioca is proving most advantageous to both early skiers and hunters, the former practicing on the open slopes, with the latter able to track the white-tails with little difficulty through the white cover.

Guns and deer appear to be more numerous than last year, and a heavy kill has already been reported. Bears, too, are very plentiful, and scores of bounties have been paid on these animals.

The majority of hunters are tagging their deer properly, as requested, before leaving or moving the quarry. Duplicate coupons are being sent to the New Hampshire Fish and Game Dept., at Concord.

At this writing, we haven't heard of any accidents in the woods. Apparently, most sportsmen are "safety-conscious," at last.

Teen-aged Rudy Nelson, expert skier of this town, is proud of the fact that he bagged an eight-point buck on opening day in this area. Albert Judd and Aubrey Reed, local enthusiasts, also downed two fine specimens, recently.

"The deer must know the season is on," said Jack Kenney, who operates Tamarack Lodge. "A few weeks ago, several of 'em would wander right up to our kitchen door, but we haven't seen 'em since the actual hunting started."

Sel and Paulie Hannah, well-known skiers of the region, have been doing considerable gunning of late, knocking off their share of pheasants and other game.

SKI SHOTS: We tried a few runs on the Cannon Mt. open slope, together with Jack and Peg Kenney, Reg Kenniston, Roger Peabody, Wyman Keen, and scores of others. The rope tow isn't rolling here yet, and climbing is real work this early in the season! Some of the stalwart skiers clambered up the trails on the mountain, where much more cover is needed for serious sport.

Every inn and lodge in the vicinity expects a record year... The swank Mittersill Club is finally completed to the satisfaction of Hubert Pantz, with a new open slope set for schussers... The town will boast a skating rink this winter, thanks to the efforts of the Franconia Ski Club... At nearby Littleton, the large Mt. Eustice Slope will again be serviced by the long tow, as well as floodlighted for night skiing... The first big ski meet of the season, cross country and giant slalom races, will be held on Cannon Mt., Dec. 20-21, open to all classified runners... Tows are expected to run at Bethlehem and Whitefield soon.

6 Changes in Hockey Rules

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 24 (AP)—Six changes in amateur ice hockey rules for the 1947-48 season were announced here yesterday by Richard F. Vaughan, member of the rules committee of the National Collegiate Athletic Ass'n and hockey coach at Princeton University.

The following NCAA changes, he said, are applicable to all colleges, secondary schools and AAU club teams:

1.—In starting play at the face-off, the puck will be dropped from knee height to the ice by the official starting the play. The position of players making the face-off remains substantially as it was in the 1946-47 season, except that the tips of the blades of the sticks must be held one foot apart at the time the puck is dropped.

2.—A penalized player returning to the ice from the penalty box shall not be eligible to play a forward pass from his own defensive zone.

3.—It is recommended that penalty time be reduced to one and one-half and three minutes instead of two and five minutes when periods are 15 minutes or less. The recommendation that no overtime period be played in secondary school games has been deleted.

4.—The taking of a major penalty shot is clarified by the added statement that when a puck has crossed the goal line extended, the player has completed his play.

5.—The neutral zone has been added to the attacking zone as an area in which a delayed whistle may occur if there is a foul by the defensive team while the puck is in the possession of the attacking team.

6.—A misconduct penalty is to be given to a player who persists in disputing decisions of, or in showing disrespect for, an official.

BU's Magnificent Work Talk of Grid World

By BILL GRIMES

For the first time this season, the boys who try to make an honest dollar by taking the short end had a bad day, with one exception. And of course the exception (probably "Buff" Donelli) had B. U. to beat Colgate.

The form players hit 'em right on the nose all the way down the line, Yale, Boston College, Holy Cross, Princeton, Columbia, Penn State, Notre Dame, Michigan, Alabama, Southern Methodist and Southern Cal.

Yale had a ten point edge over Harvard. The Elis looked, acted and doubtless were the better club. The lines didn't live up to their press notices. It was the bigger, faster and more powerful Yale backs, plus Tex Furse' passing and generalship, that made the Yale offense click.

Usually the better clubs make the "breaks." But Yale had nothing to do with the "breaks," which probably cost Harvard a victory. A mix-up in the Harvard backfield in the first period started Yale on its way to a touchdown. Whether Jim Kenary stepped in the wrong direction or Paul Lazzaro took the wrong fork, we wouldn't know. But, Kenary and Lazzaro collided as the former handed the ball to the little "scat-back." Lazzaro stumbled and then fumbled, Yale recovered.

Harvard was on its way to score at the opening of the second half, Paul Lazzaro took the ball about at mid-field and shot through as though he was jet propelled. He was nailed on the Yale 25 but the holding had been detected in the line, the ball was brought back and Harvard was penalized 15 yards, which forced them to punt.

Then, after Yale had broken the 14-14 deadlock, the Harvard defense stopped the Elis and Levi Jackson went back to punt. He got off the kick but the referee charged "Stretch" Mazzone with roughing him. And that penalty, which moved the ball 15 yards down the field and gave Yale a first down, ruined whatever chance Harvard had of coming through with an upset.

"Tex" Furse proved conclusively that he's a grand field general. Apparently he's on his own. He's the boss man and he's a good one. Time and again he noticed that the Harvard back-ups were giving him too much latitude. So, he checked the plays called in the huddle and carried himself on quarterback sneaks. He used that play six or eight times but in view of the fact that he scored three touchdowns, he shouldn't be called a "ball hog."

During a press luncheon last Thursday, Coach "Buff" Donelli hinted very strongly that he believed his B. U. Terriers would beat Colgate. He stated that the Terriers would be the best team that has represented the university this fall. The fog has cleared. They now know what it's all about. I think they'll win. And, of course, I hope so."

B. U.'s victory over Colgate will pay off. In their first year under Donelli, the Terriers won five out of eight games. They were over-matched against Harvard, Purdue, William & Mary and Colgate. They battled the Crimson for more than three periods, were shellacked by the Boilemakers and the Williams Indians, but they beat the Red Raiders.

The Terriers deserve great credit for their 1947 showing. They didn't get any encouragement from the alumni and not as much as they should have from the student body. There are almost 28,000 students enrolled at B. U. and the Greater Boston alumni numbers 70,000. But the B. U. affiliates were conspicuous only by their absence at all football games this season. They let the varsity down shamefully, but the Terriers refused to stay down. They beat Colgate on their spirit, not by, with or from any assistance rendered by the alumni who have been the most severe critics of past failures of B. U. football endeavors.

Boston College and Holy Cross had to pull their punches to keep from annihilating St. Mary's and Fordham, their brothers in the bond. The Eagles and the Crusaders, probably, would have been better off mentally, if Coaches Denny Myers and "Ox" Da Grossa had put them through long practice sessions on Saturday instead of taking on a couple of push-overs, neither of whom could beat a good high school eleven.

But for the fact that Herb Carey, who had gone "12 for 12" until Saturday, missed two tries to convert after touchdowns, Dartmouth would have tied a knot in the tail of the Princeton Tiger. The Big Green lost to Penn, Yale, Columbia and Princeton this fall. Yet, the undergraduates and the alumni are not registering ing any complaints. All Dartmouth men know, or they should that Tuss McLaughry operated with a skeleton squad and if any mentor ever got "the mostest out of the leastest" it's Tuss.

In a wild and woolly game, Columbia Lions wound up the season with a win over Syracuse and believe me when I say that Lou Little is glad that one is over."

While Coach Frank Leahy was looking at the Southern Cal-Uclans game in Los Angeles, Notre Dame belted the daylight out of Tulane. And, incidentally, if the Irish knock off the Trojans on Dec. 6, they'll take the edge off the Rose Bowl classic.

The Wolverines, who are Rose Bowl bound, had no trouble with Ohio State but the Indiana Hoosiers retained possession of the "Old Oaken Bucket" by edging out Purdue. Northwestern took Illinois and Wisconsin fell before Minnesota.

Down South, Harry Gilmer passed Alabama to a victory over L. S. U. and into a Sugar Bowl bid and Doak Walker was a one run eleven in Southern Methodist's win over Baylor.

Eagles Expect to Break Holy Cross Win Streak

A week of rigorous practice sessions face the Boston College Eagles who will square off against traditional rival Holy Cross at Braves Field, Saturday in the 44th meeting between the Jesuit foes. The Heightsmen haven't taken the measure of the Crusaders since 1941 and they'll be going all out to notch the 20th B. C. victory in the series which started away back in 1896.

Victor in the last four games, the Worcester eleven has 21 victories to 19 for B.C. Three games ended in ties, all scoreless affairs. The deadlocks were scored in 1898, 1926 and 1932.

Denny Myers can boast of only one victory over HC in 1941, his first year at the BC coaching helm; his charges edged the Crusaders, 14 to 13. The following season the roof fell in on the Eagles as the Cross knocked them from the undefeated ranks with a stunning 55-12 score.

The '42 score is a sore point with BC grads. Whenever talk of the BC-HC series arises, that's the game that is always the subject of conversation. The bald Eagles would like to forget it but the boys from Worcester won't let them.

The Eagles should be near top strength for the all-important clash. Only serious casualties from the St. Mary's game were center Art Spinney and center Bob Chouinard. Spinney, a bulwark in the B. C. line all season, had six stitches taken in his nose. With the help of a nose guard he'll be set to face the Crusaders.

Chouinard, however, is not expected to be ready for the traditional game. The hard-tackling sophomore from Newburyport broke a bone in the back of his hand. His loss will be hard felt. Regular center Ed Kennedy and reserve Joe Kulik will have to bear the brunt of the pivot duties.

One comforting fact is that first string tackle Ernie Stautner will be ready to face the Worcester eleven. A burly, aggressive player, Stautner was available for limited service against the ads but was kept on the sidelines so he'd be in the pink of condition against the Cross.

Maurice Pousant, hard-driving right halfback from Biddeford, Me., also was kept out of the St. Mary's tilt so his ankle injury, sustained against Wake Forest, would not be aggravated. He's expected to be back in his starting berth next Saturday.

The morale of the Eagles was high after their defeat of St. Mary's. Two successive jolts, a one point loss to Wake Forest and a trouncing received at the hands of Tennessee, had installed a feeling of instability in the BC players but the victory over the Cross provided the needed tonic.

One lad who was worthy of praise after Saturday's game was little Kenny Hughes, blond sophomore from upstate New York. Hughes played the safety position against St. Mary's and proved himself to be poised and calm at all times.

He was adept at running back punts and showed no signs of nervousness when two or three bulky linemen were hurtling toward him. The safety slot has been a weak spot on the B. C. squad all season. On many occasions a player has put the Eagles in the hole by misplaying a boot. Hughes looked better than anyone yet tried at the position.

He ran kicks back ten or fifteen yards every time and showed he was playing head-up ball by signalling for a fair catch once when he saw two St. Mary's players about to crash him down. Many an Eagle back would have become unnerved in such a situation.

B. C. coaches were high in their praise of Hughes' performance and the quiet, likable youth looks like a good bet to see action against Holy Cross.

One highlight of the forthcoming game should be the play of the Kissell brothers, John of B. C. and Veto of H. C. John, a giant tackle who has been a standout all season, promises to play his best game of the year against the Crusaders. A giant who weighs 230 pounds, he was a member of the '42 eleven which participated in the 55-12 debacle. A freshman then, he entered the service at the close of the season after winning praise of being one of the best looking first year linemen ever to perform at the Heights.

John returned to BC last year but had a poor season, being plagued by injuries. He lost his starting berth to Ed King but won it back this fall by his outstanding play. He's one of the fastest men for his size in the game.

Veto is the only member of the Kissell clan from Nashua, N. H., to go to the Cross. Brothers Dolph and Veto both were maroon and gold colors.

A powerful runner, whose particular specialty is spinner play through the middle, Veto is a burly blond, weighing 208 pounds. He's been "ribbing" John about the four straight victories which H. C.

DURNAN MAY GO

There was a rumor in circulation up in Montreal last Saturday that Bill Durnan will be traded to the Chicago Blackhawks. During the war, Durnan was top among the NHL goalies. This fall, however, he hasn't been up to form.

Durnan was the victim of a knee injury while playing soft ball last summer. Rather than pass up the dough he was receiving at a soft ball pitcher, Durnan postponed a knee operation until just before Les Canadiens were to report for training.

With Gerry McNeill available, Les Canadiens probably can afford to sell the veteran goal minder. McNeill has been playing goal for the Royal since he was brought into Montreal from Quebec City and he's very popular with the followers of the Flying Frenchmen.

Invite Nip

TOKYO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Kyodo News Agency said today that Matsuo Nagai, described as a member of the Japanese Olympic Committee, had been invited by the International Olympic Committee to attend a January meeting at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

Nagai said he sent a telegram to the international committee's meeting in Oslo in June and that through a message the existence of the Japanese committee was recognized, as was its affiliation with the international body.

Nagai observed that he probably would be unable to attend the St. Moritz meeting since Japanese are not permitted to leave this country.

Celtics Seek 1st Hub Win

The crackling-fast New York Knickerbockers move into Boston Garden tomorrow night for their first 1947-48 meeting with Honey Russell's Boston Celtics.

The local club is still looking for its first win on its home court. Boston hopes to have a little trouble collecting victories on the other fellows' floor, but appear tight and to be pressing when they play in front of their home fans.

The Knickerbockers' new coach, Joe Lapchick, has put together a well-balanced combine of rookies and veterans Stan Stutz, Tommy Byrnes, Leo Gutlieb and Sonny Hertzberg are all experienced men at the moneyed game.

Capt. John Palmer and Bill Van Breda Kolff, both of Princeton, as well as Lee Knorck of the University of Detroit, saw action with the Knicks last season for half the year. Dick Holub, L. I. U., the Japanese boy from Utah University, Wat Alaska, Ray Kuka, Neke Dame, Paul Noel, Kentucky, Carl Braun, Colgate, are all playing their first year of the professional game.

Despite their third consecutive home defeat, the Celtics appear to have hit upon the right combination. Big Jack Hewson worked very well under the basket when he was in there with George Munroe, Eddie Ehlers, Cecil Hankins, and Gene Stump. When Russell inserted this combine the Baltimore game turned into a fast-breaking affair and the Boston rookies began to creep up on the Bulls.

Russell is now down to 12 men and must drop two more men before the 29th of this month. Saul Mariaschin and Charlie Hoefler both sat out the last home game.

O'Connell Vice-President Of New England Loop

Richard O'Connell, business manager of the Lynn baseball club, has been elected vice-president of the New England Class "B" League, succeeding Joseph Madowski, president of the circuit's Fall River entry.

At the annual league meeting yesterday, it also was voted to eliminate the rule requiring clubs to carry on their rosters four rookies and six limited service players.

Referee Off Form as Bruins Reel to 2-2 Tie

By BILL GRIMES

In view of the fact that they lost Jack Crawford and Wally Wilson in the first period and Milt Schmidt half-way through the final canto, the Bruins were lucky to get a 2-2 draw with Les Canadiens last night.

Bob Carse stepped on Crawford's foot and the "Squire" retired. He was cut but not enough to require a stitch. His foot however, was so badly bruised as to make it impossible for him to skate. Wally Wilson was the victim of a freak accident. Little Kenny Smith tried to clear the puck out of his zone with a back-hand lift. The disc smacked Wilson flush on the head and floored him.

"Butch" Keeling, who was making his first appearance here as a referee, should have stopped the play, when he saw Wilson fall to the ice because the puck came right back to Smith. But, he didn't blow his whistle. Canadiens got possession and came with a very close margin of scoring while Wilson was prone on the ice. Dr. Thomas A. Kelley put five stitches in Wilson's noggin.

Less than two minutes after the Bruins had beaten Gerry McNeill for their first goal, "Butch" Bouchard hit Milt Schmidt with a terrific knee check, within arm's length of Referee Keeling. The Bruin star was spun off his feet and did a nose dive. He managed to get to the Boston bench, where Trainer Vin Green rendered first aid. There was no penalty. "Schmidty" has a bad "Charlie horse" and may be lost for the Chicago and Detroit games.

In the long run, it might be better if the Bruins reversed the order of their week-end double-headers. On successive Sundays, they have played poor hockey. The fans have started to "gripe." A week ago last Saturday, they played Canadiens in Montreal and chalked up a 9 to 1 victory. But, the following night at home, they could not do anything right against the Red Wings and dropped a 3 to 2 decision. On Saturday they were nosed out 4 to 3 by the Maple Leafs in Toronto and the best they could do (and again I say, they were lucky to do as well as they did) was to divide the points with the Canucks.

If the Bruins are to retain their hold on the public they must display more life than they did against Detroit and Montreal. They are doing their best but it's physically impossible for them to play one night in Montreal or Toronto and be at their best the following night back home.

The Bruins were badly outplayed throughout the game. They made it easy for Gerry McNeill, the young goalie who filled in for the injured Bill Durnan.

Although McNeill was credited with three saves in the first period, I saw only one, which came at 19:32. Over the entire route, McNeill had only nine saves, while Frankie Brimek was called upon to make 19, most of which were really tough.

Frank Leahy Impressed By Play of Fast Trojans

By FRANK LEAHY

Head Coach, Notre Dame University

Southern California and Michigan played their way into the Rose Bowl with victories Saturday. Alabama goes to the Sugar Bowl. Now I hope Penn State gets a bid to the Cotton Bowl. Coach Bob Higgins and his boys deserve the bid. Their 29-0 defeat of Pittsburgh completed a nine-game schedule without tie or defeat. If the Nittany Lions, with two Negroes on the team, are invited to the Cotton Bowl it would do much to break the racial bias against Negro athletes in that section of the country.

If Southern Methodist is the other team in the Cotton Bowl, the invitation is almost sure to come. Matty Bell, Mustang coach, has expressed himself strongly against the ban. S.M.U. beat Baylor Saturday 10-0, and apparently won the Cotton Bowl spot.

Well, a couple of things happened while I was away from home over the week-end. I saw the fine Southern California team beat UCLA 6-0, and indicate trouble for my team on Dec. 6 at Los Angeles. The Trojans have a very impressive line and are well coached by Jeff Cravath.

Maybe I had better stay away from home. My lads ran up their largest score of the year in beating Tulane 59-6. I'd better get Moose Krause and my other worthy assistants to let me in on the secret of such power. We'll need it against the Trojans—as always, the season ended happily for some coaches and unhappily for others. That's part of the game and a troublesome part if you happen to be on the losing side.

Bo McMillan pulled a nice one out of the fire when his Indiana lads beat Purdue, 16-14. Bo has been hit hard by injuries this year to key personnel and it is a tribute to his coaching ability that his lads rallied to beat such a well coached team as the Boilermakers. Stu Holcomb has done a great job in his first year at Purdue.

Yale and Harvard as usual gave their partisans many thrills. Yale won 31-21, but the score never means anything when these traditional rivals meet. All they want to do is "have at each other."

And that must have been quite a traditionally thrilling affair between Princeton and Dartmouth with the Tigers winning 14-2. According to reports Columbia's 28-8 victory over Syracuse should have been held under Marquis of Queensbury rules.

Bob Voight's certainly finished the season happily when his Northwestern Wildcats upset Illinois, 28-13. That's having the best for the last, Bub.

Minnesota's stunning 21-0 triumph over Wisconsin before a record crowd of 63,862 fans should discourage talk that Bernie Bierman is leaving as Gopher coach. Nineteen winners, five losers and one tie showed up in the prediction department, bringing the season's total to 214 winners, 74 losers and 11 ties.

5 Hub Girls In Hockey Play

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., Nov. 24 (AP)—The Stuyvesant Club of New York and the Boston Women's Field Hockey Ass'n team each placed five players on the Northeast All-Star team that will compete in the national championship tournament at Philadelphia this week.

The Stuyvesant team captured the sectional championship at Smith College yesterday by defeating the Mohawk Club, also of New York, 3-1.

Joe Golding Boy of the Day

Joe Golding is the boy of the day. The Oklahoma U. graduate has scored three NFL touchdowns, has been given credit for only one. First time he carried the ball, first carry from scrimmage against the NY Giants he ran 72 yards for a TD—Oh, No! Clipping on the play. Against the Eagles, he caught a TD pass from Danciewicz and registered. Later he took a lateral from Seno, galloped 57 yards for a TD only to have the whistle blow. He'd be one of the league's leading ground-gainers if it weren't for offside, clipping, etc. Greasy Neale says he's the fastest man in the league, faster than his own Van Buren. He's been used sparingly by the Yanks but he's been on the shelf for three weeks with an injury.

Yanks who are making friends: Danciewicz, with his rushing. Said an official: "When Governal was hit, he went down. When Danciewicz is hit he starts running. Governal was too good-looking to be an A-1 passer; he was protecting his looks. Danciewicz never had Hollywood inclinations." From the press box it seemed as if the Yanks' best play was when Danciewicz, trying to pass, was smothered by the opposition, only to wriggle away for valuable yardage. He set up a TD on such a play on the Yanks' winning march, and he scored the winning TD when he was supposed to pass to Curriwan, found him covered, and raced around end with Seno and Rombol throwing valuable blocks.

Mike Micka was wonderful defensively, as usual. He threw a block against Philly's Frank Kilroy which almost put the latter out of the game. And it was Kilroy who put the Yanks out of the game eight days ago in Philadelphia. Greasy Neale: "I couldn't get the team 'up.' They had got 20 easy points against the Yanks in Philadelphia and won 32-0. I tried to tell them the Yanks could be tough. They wouldn't listen. All they talked about was 'five-in-a-row' and the Eastern Division title. After this week, they'll play football!"

Yanks Are Coming, But Are They Going?

By HUCK FINNEGAN

The Yanks are coming again! They started to come against Chicago's Bears here three weeks back (lost 28-24), registered resolutely 24 hours ago when they defeated Philadelphia 21-14 and kept Greasy Neale's boys from grabbing the Eastern Division lead from Pittsburgh (Bears 49, Pitt 7).

They're coming, yes, but can they keep going?

"If we draw full houses against the Eagles (Philly) and Washington Redskins, we'll have to ask Ted Collins for only $50,000 this year," said an executive last week.

The Yanks-Eagles crowd was announced as 15,368. Actually the paid admissions were only a few more than 11,000.

"And now," continued the executive, "we'll have to ask him for $100,000. It's a lot of money to lose in a year."

Can Collins stand up under the constant monetary drain? How far is he from the bottom of the barrel?

"He's got plenty," continued the executive, "and he's got courage enough to keep going. He'll be back next year. After that, I dunno. He hasn't a good press, but he's got the makings of a good club—if he had a line coach."

"Can anybody in the house name the Yanks line coach? He's as much an anonymity as the soldier at Arlington and like Dick Harlow's assistants."

"Biggest mistake the club ever made was in letting John Dell Isola go," the story went on. "He was a big leaguer. Had played in the league seven years before he coached. Clipper Smith would have had much better success if Johnny was here, but when Herb Kopf was fired, Johnny grabbed the Dartmouth job, and who can blame him? Certainly gave McLaughry a line, didn't he?"

The exec had other beefs. Thought the Yanks were underpublicized.

"I know, I know," he reiterated when it was explained the Yanks trained in Waltham and no transportation was provided. "I know lots of things I know Duffy Lewis and Bill Sullivan have made the Graves twice as popular as they should be, and I know why the Sox sent Eddie Doherty to Scranton."

"You've got to have good-will, and to create good-will you've got to meet the press once in a while and let 'em know there's such a club in town as the Yanks."

"This is a big league organization, and it should be run on a big league basis."

How many in town know Clipper Smith? Never shows in the press room like George Halas or Greasy Neale. Ducks away right after each game.

It was explained that the Yanks

Alvin Dark Should Give 4 Wolverines on Big Nine Team

During the Little World Series, Frank Shaughnessy, head of the International League, said that one of the best infielders he had seen in years was Alvin Dark, shortstop of the Milwaukee Brewers. The Int. League prexy was only one of the scores of baseball men who also have been loud in their praises of the former Louisiana State University lad who will be trying for a berth with the Boston Braves next spring.

Dark's experience in pro ball has been limited. He appeared in a few games with the Braves in 1946, but this year it was decided to send him out for some minor league experience and he has come through in fine shape. He played an important role in putting the Brewers into the Little World Series, batting .303 and his 186 hits included 49 two-base blows. He drove in 66 runs and scored 121 himself. With the Braves needing shortstop help, Dark may be the answer to one of Bill Southworth's problems.

The Braves also have picked up one of the prize catchers of the minors last season in Frank Kerr who is 28 years old and stands six feet, one in. A right-handed hitter, Kerr was obtained from the San Diego Club. He made his pro debut in 1939 and last season he batted .299 in the Coast League, driving in 56 runs.

Quite a number of pitchers will be taken to the Boston training camp and these include several promising rookies. One is Bob Hogue, a right-hander who pitched for Dallas last season. Hogue, who is 25, is a control pitcher. He walked only 59 men in 222 innings while he was winning 16 and losing 8.

Vernon Bickford is another right hander who will get a thorough trial. He comes from the Braves' Milwaukee farm. His record shows 9 victories and 5 defeats, but until June 30 he was used almost exclusively as a relief pitcher. When the Brewers became pressed for pitchers, Bickford was given a starting role, turned in a 1 to 0 decision in his first attempt and after that was quite important in pitching Milwaukee into the Little World Series.

Glenn Elliott, the southpaw who had been with the Braves before, and Al Epperly, a right-hander who had been up previously, also are getting another chance. They were with Milwaukee. Elliott and Epperly are 28 years old. Elliott won 15, lost 5 last season and Epperly's mark was 14 and 7. Al

Treichel, a right-hander with San Diego where he won 14, lost 15; Johnny Fetzner, who won 8 and lost 10 with Hartford; Dick Manville, a right-hander who won 5 and lost 3 with Evansville and Ray Martin, who won 6, lost 11 with Hartford, are other flippers who will get a trial.

Tom Neill, the left-handed hitting outfielder who topped the Southern League in hitting in 1946, will be back for another chance. He was with the Braves last spring. Tom was optioned to Milwaukee and batted in 91 runs while hitting .285.

Two players obtained in the draft by the Braves are Clint Conatser, an outfielder, and Eddie Post, a pitcher, and will be taken to the Bradenton, Fla., training camp.

CHICAGO, Nov. 24 (AP)—Michigan's mighty Wolverines today landed four players, including three backs, on the 1947 Associated Press All-Big Nine football team selected annually by the Conference coaches.

Paying high tribute to the Big Nine champion, the league's mentors gave Michigan a domination seldom achieved on the honor roll. They chose Bob Chappuis, Chalmers (Bump) Elliott and Howard Yerges for the high-gear backfield and placed pass-catching, end-running Bob Mann at end position.

Three berths on the All-Star lineup went to Illinois and one each to Indiana, Wisconsin, Purdue and Minnesota. Iowa, Ohio State and Northwestern failed to capture a position on either the first or second teams.

Russ Steger, workhorse full-back for Illinois, rounds out the No. 1 backfield which goes with a line bulwarked by ends Mann and Ike Owens of Illinois; tackles Phil O'Reilly of Purdue and Lou Agass of Illinois; guards Howard Brown of Indiana and Leo Nomellini of Minnesota and center Bob Wilson of Wisconsin.

There were no unanimous choices, but three players—Nomellini, Chappuis and Elliott—received eight first team votes to gather 16 out of a possible 18 points in the balloting.

Quarterback Yerges, unheralded field general and ball-handler of Michigan's magical attack, and the pile-driving, consistent Steger bagged 12 points apiece. Tackle O'Reilly received 13 and guard Nomellini 14. Owens, rated one of the greatest defensive ends in the country and flanker Mann collected 11 points apiece, the former being named as a first selection by five coaches.

Only "darkhorse" selection among the linemen was the Gophers' 238-pound Nomellini from Chicago. He was named on the first time by all coaches but one, and that one failed even to put him on the second team.

Closest race in the poll was between the Badgers' Wilson, an excellent line-backer, and Illinois' excellent line-backer, and Illinois' the center berth. Wilson barely won out.

Meyers Roms With Family

Maj. Gen. Bennett Meyers (right), who faces a possible slander suit by Mrs. Mildred Lamarre whom he called his "girl friend" at Washington war frauds hearing, romps with his wife, a former movie starlet, and their twin sons, Damon and Arnold, at his Halesite, N. Y., estate. New woes loom for the former Air Forces procurement officer as Sen. Charles H. Tobey, of New Hampshire, announced that the Senate banking committee will look into his government bond speculation. The Justice Department, meanwhile, is rushing preparations to indict Meyers for war frauds, perjury and income tax evasion.

Truck Plunges Off Road

The driver, Albert F.
